ROOM OFFERED NRS OFFICE BY COUNTY

Commissioners Set Aside Space If Employment Service, Now in Lancaster, Is Interested in Removing Headquarters to Circleville

Pickaway county wants the district office of the National Reemployment Service now located in Lancaster and made a bid Tuesday that should create interest in the transfer.

County commissioners announced they would provide space in the courthouse for the office. It would be located in the basement hall between the county engineer's office and the office of the resident engineer. The board agreed to provide a railing and proper lighting equipment.

Fred C. Clark, S. Court street, conferred with the commissioners about the offer. He explained that through friends in Columbus he learned a transfer was contemplated. The offer will be sent to the state headquarters for consideration.

George Hall, 75, Dies Two Hours After Accident at Traffic Light

George Hall, 75, widely known painter of Amanda, died about 9:40 p. m. Monday, two hours after he suffered a fractured skull in an auto-pedestrian accident on Route 22 at the traffic light in the village.

Mr. Hall was returning to his home after a visit to the downtown district, residents said, and walked into the highway against the traffic signal. The auto was driven by John Van Horn, Amanda high school pupil.

Mr. Hall was treated at the office of Dr. V. D. Reichelderfer then removed to his home. Arrangements for services have not been completed.

Surviving are his widow, Ella, and one step-daughter, Edna Pearse, of Columbus.

Admits Killing Missing Girl

ALEXANDER MEYER, 20-year-old son of a Philadelphia coal broker, has been charged with murder in the death of Helen Meyer, 16-year-old Coatesville, Pa., schoolgirl, whose body was found in a well on a farm adjoining that of Meyer, near Coatesville. Arrested in connection with the case, police quoted Meyer as saying he accidentally ran down and killed the girl with his truck and hid her body in the well. Miss Meyer had been missing for days.

STORK IS LOSER TO PHYSICIAN IN RACE OVER ICE

LA POINTE, Wis., Feb. 23—(UP)—The story of a doctor's heroic race by dog sled through a swirling blizzard across the slush ice of Lake Superior to attend the birth of two babies on ice-locked Madeline island, was told today by visitors from the island.

Late Monday night Charles Gootchie, an island resident, staggered through the driving snowstorm to the cabin of Howard Russell, who owns a dog team. Gootchie explained that he needed a doctor for his wife and for Mrs. Reuben Dissell, also an island resident.

The men started out by dog sled to Bayfield where they knew they could find Dr. M. J. Robertson. There was no trail. The snow stung their faces and blinded them. The ice creaked with the weight of the sled.

Dr. Robertson climbed out of bed and the three started back for the island. They arrived at 3 a. m. At 3:45 the doctor assisted at the birth of a son to Mrs. Dissell. Fifteen minutes later he was in the Gootchie home nearly a mile further down the road attending Mrs. Gootchie who gave birth to a daughter.

At daylight Dr. Robertson mushed back to Bayfield where he attended his routine practice.

DAVEY TO SPEAK TO LEGISLATURE AT 10:15 TONIGHT

COLUMBUS, Feb. 23—(UP)—Appearing before a joint session of the legislature tonight, and speaking over the radio, Governor Davey will present his biennial state budget, outline tax proposals and call for immediate action to break the tie-up of funds that is imperiling relief in several large counties.

The address is scheduled for 10:15 p. m. That hour was selected in order to obtain radio time.

With the flow of state relief funds into the counties stopped since early January, the governor has announced he will ask the legislature to amend the sales tax law to make cash available at once to pay grants under the $3,000,000 stop-gap relief appropriation for the period from Jan. 1 to April 15.

SEGAL ORDERED TO QUIT SAFETY DIRECTOR'S JOB

Mayor James Ford, Chillicothe 'Dictator', Discharges Aide in 'Numbers' Dispute

ORDER MAY BRING FIGHT

Official Has Ousted Third Head of City Department

CHILLICOTHE, Feb. 23—Mayor James E. Ford Monday requested Safety Director Sam Segal "to relinquish your office" and thus set loose a wave of conjecture as to what next may Chillicothe expect.

Chief object of speculation was the fate of the "numbers" game, over which, according to Mr. Segal, the break between him and the mayor occurred.

Aside from this issue, with its many possible complications, remained the question of whether Mr. Ford will be able to oust the safety director without filing charges and proving them to the satisfaction of two-thirds of city council.

Mr. Segal, pledging himself to resist removal, threw down the gauntlet to the mayor in a statement.

Solicitor Questions Move

Right of Mayor Ford to remove a cabinet member was questioned by Solicitor Kenneth T. Stevens, who said he would have a statement to make Tuesday after he had opportunity to make a more thorough examination of the law.

"Differences of opinion" were cited as cause for the action by Mr. Ford, who told reporters that he respected Mr. Segal as a business man and public-spirited citizen, with whom he always

Heart Handled For Two Hours, Man to Recover

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23—(UP)—Mathew Ben Moore, 23-year-old Vallejo evangelist whose heart was exposed and handled for two hours yesterday in a delicate operation, today appeared likely to recover. The operation was performed by Dr. Claude S. Beck of Cleveland before a group of distinguished surgeons.

The rare operation was necessary because of partial calcification of the pericardial sac, the protective membrane which surrounds the heart, was blocking the normal functions of the circulatory system and forcing the patient's blood back into the brain.

Removal of the diseased membrane required nearly two hours, during which Dr. Beck handled the heart almost constantly. The operative procedure was devised by Doctor Beck after 15 years of research at Western Reserve university.

Physicians said that when the heart was brought into view it appeared lifeless instead of pulsing regularly as it should, the muscles apparently held rigid by the diseased membrane. Doctor Beck stripped this membrane while two other surgeons held the aperture open.

LUCAS WORKERS MARCH, DEMAND AID FROM STATE

COLUMBUS, Feb. 23—(UP)—Forty members of the Lucas county workers' alliance marched in front of the Ohio statehouse today demanding immediate relief funds from the state.

Sales Tax Fund Low In County

The February distribution of sales tax for the entire county is less than the share Circleville alone received in January.

Auditor Forrest Short announced Tuesday the February distribution of tax collected in January amounts to $1,286.97. Circleville's share was $640.50.

In January the total tax distributed amounted to $3,192.58 of which Circleville received $1,593.89.

The auditor's office made a distribution of auto license fees for the period ending Dec. 30, last, amounting to $166.96. The county's share is $152.84 and the city's $9.62. The balance goes to corporations.

FOUNDER OF AGE PENSION SYSTEM GOES ON TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(UP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, gaunt, grey-haired founder of the $200-per-month pension movement, a year ago a potent though unknown quantity in politics, goes on trial in district court charged with contempt of the house of representatives.

As defiant as when he walked out on the house committee that investigated his pension plan last spring, the aging physician, promised that he would go to jail rather than retreat from his position—that he had a perfect right to refuse to testify. He would not be satisfied to be found guilty and released on probation as were two of his former associates two weeks ago.

"I am not seeking mercy, but justice," he said.

The present force of the Townsend Old Age pension movement is unknown. At one time its income, made up by ten cent a month contributions from millions of aged men and women, amounted to a stupendous sum.

"I'm not asking the Cardinals for $50,000 or any other salary this year and I won't play ball for anybody regardless of salary," he said. "I'm going home and take life easy."

WAGE AND HOUR PROVISIONS MAY BE VOTED SOON

Capital Hints F.D.R. to Wait For Final Action On His Judiciary Revision

LABOR APPROVAL AWAITED

Enforcement plan Included in Federation Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(UP)—The administration has virtually completed a series of legislative measures to restore the labor provisions of NRA, the United Press was informed today by sources close to the White House.

It was believed, however that no decision has yet been made whether any or all of these measures will be considered by congress until President Roosevelt's Judiciary reorganization program has been acted on.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was reliably reported is awaiting definite word from organized labor factions regarding the methods they favor for restoring wage and hour provisions established under the Blue Eagle.

Conferences Planned

It is possible that he will seek future conferences with leaders of the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization before any omnibus bill is drafted from the proposals already advanced.

Mr. Roosevelt has talked with President William Green and Counsel Charlton Ogden of the Federation; with John L. Lewis and other CIO leaders; and with Harper Sibley, head of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, regarding the NRA substitute program.

The fact that the administration is committed to an equalization of profits with the boosting of purchasing power was emphasized to the United Press by a member of the president's cabinet.

The objectives he outlined were: 1. "Safe and sound business progress based on reasonable and legitimate profits." 2. "A balanced relationship between all the interrelated segments composing our economic and social life." 3. "The simplest, most economical and efficient governmental service."

Path Pointed Out

The president has already shown congress the path he hopes it will take in administrative reorganization, basing his recommendations on the Brownlow report drafted by expert advisers.

The principal wage and hours bills now before congress are: 1. The O'Mahoney licensing bill providing for the federal licensing of corporations in inter-state commerce.

WINTERS TO PAY $50 ON CHARGE OF DRUNKEN DRIVING

Oble Winters, Jackson township, was fined $100 and costs, $50 suspended, Monday night by Mayor W. J. Graham for driving when intoxicated on W. High street early Sunday. Mr. Winters gave bond to pay his account.

Walter Lee Colvin, 37, who resides in the southeast of the city, was fined $50 and costs on a drunk and disorderly charge and committed to the county jail. Mayor Graham said Colvin had received a suspended fine last year with the understanding he leave Circleville. He failed to comply with the order.

Boy Scout News

Boy Scouts of Troop 158 will be excused from school Friday to perform various tasks in Circleville business houses to earn money to help finance the cabin being constructed south of the city. Thirty-one of the youths will work up town while 10 of the older boys will go with Scoutmaster Jack Landrum to work on the cabin.

Those who will work on the cabin are Ed Hill, Tye Davis, Bill Heffner, Pat Turner, James Denman, Clark Martin, Tom Harden, Hulise Hays Jr., Junior Imler and James Callahan.

The troop had its regular meeting Monday evening. Dues were collected and inspection held. Five new members, Junior Imler, John Goodchild, Frank Webbe, Jack Imler and Russell Streets, were taken in, making a total membership of 40 boys.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Sliding doors on kitchen or pantry cabinets are nice, as they do not project when opened, says the government's Federal Housing Administration bulletin. However, unless they are properly mounted they are apt to stick and cause a good deal of annoyance. They can be hung on ball-bearing hardware, which makes them very easy to operate. It is better to hang them in groups of three, so that more than half the total opening can be exposed at one time. It is difficult to get large platters through a narrow opening.

BOLAND TO STAR ON BERNIE HOUR TUESDAY AT 9

Jimmy Cagney, Sidney Skolsky and Mary Garden Booked

Mary Boland, veteran screen comedienne, will try to overcome her dislike for cigars for just one night on Tuesday, February 23.

And for a good reason! That's the night she is scheduled to appear as guest star with Ben Bernie and all his lads—and it is well known that the Old Maestro hasn't felt well dressed for years without a cigar in his mouth. "No Smoking" signs mean nothing to Bernie, even in broadcasting studios.

Still to be solved by Miss Boland is the problem of leaving Charlie Ruggles in some safe place, like a chin shop, while she heckles Bernie.

STARS WITH CROSBY

Two wise guys and a famous lady of the opera are Bing Crosby's guest stars in the Music Hall next Thursday, February 25. They are Jimmy Cagney, of the movies; Sidney Skolsky, Hollywood columnist; and Mary Garden, one of the best known opera singers of all time.

With Bing and Bob Burns on the giving end, a ribbing free-for-all between the Music Hall troupe, the pride of the Ozarks, the screen's tough guy, and the sharp wit of the columnist is due for the broadcast over the NBC red network at 10 p. m. (EST).

Mary Garden sang her way to the top in opera and has always been one of the most interesting personalities the musical end of show business has produced. She has a host of interesting anecdotes and joins Bing on the air for one of his human interest interviews.

Music by Jimmy Dorsey's swingsters and some of Bob Burns' own reminiscences complete the proceedings.

HERSHOLT AND BERGEN

Jean Hersholt takes time out during a vacation trip to New York to play a dramatic role on Rudy Vallee's Variety Hour next Thursday, February 25. For years he played featured roles in the movies, then jumped to star ranking overnight in his characterization of the doctor in the quintuplet pictures.

In this broadcast over the NBC red network at 8 p. m. (EST) he plays the lead in a radio sketch. Edgar Bergen and his partner, Charlie McCarthy, radio's only wooden star, return with more of their "double talk."

'ELECTRIC EYE' STANDS GUARD AT FREE PORT

New York First To Be Operated Without Physical Barrier

LANDING BANNED NOW

Beam Uninterrupted As It Rises, Falls With Tide

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—(UP)—Shining day and night, casting its piercing ray through fog and across 2,700 feet of water an ever-alert sentinel guards the entrance to the new Free Port at Stapleton, Staten Island, N. Y.

This sentinel, warning of any object no matter how large or small that breaks its intangible barrier, is the "electric eye" that protects the first and only free port of modern times in the United States. At present the port is closed to permit installation of a sprinkler system. The work is expected to be completed by April 1.

A free port is a restricted foreign trade zone where foreign goods may be repacked, graded, stored, mixed with other foreign or domestic goods, assembled and trans-shipped without going through customs. Regular import duties are paid if and when the goods ultimately are imported into the country.

Four Ports Proposed

About 40 free ports have been set up in various parts of the world. The Staten Island zone, the only such port in this country, possibly is the predecessor or four free ports in the United States. Two would be located on the Atlantic Coast, according to plans revealed a year ago by representatives of the administration, one on the Gulf Coast and one on the Pacific Coast.

The most novel feature of the New York Free Port is the "electric eye" which went into operation as soon as the zone was opened Feb. 1. Its use for such a purpose marks the first time that an actual physical barrier has not been used in free ports. All other free ports throughout the world use barriers which are opened or closed to admit vessels to enter or leave the restricted sections.

The "electric eye" is constructed so that a thousand-watt light shines out of a black, trunklike box which rises and falls with the tides. This light sends its rays from the north boundary of the free zone to the photo-electric cell at the other end. While nothing interrupts the beam, all is quiet but the instant a vessel enters the zone an alarm is sounded. At night, the light sends a white line across the water. It shines so brightly that it is possible to read a newspaper by its light a half-mile away.

Four Piers in Zone

Customs men, paid by New York City, keep a 24-hour watch at the port. Its physical makeup includes four piers, owned by the city, 3 acres of land on which warehouses and other buildings will be constructed, and a 12-foot steel fence around the restricted zone. Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, one of the original sponsors of the port, estimated that its operation will yield about $150,000 annually.

A movement to establish free ports in the United States first started a generation ago. The Staten Island piers, under use in the free port there, were constructed at the close of the World War but have not been used regularly due to the collapse of the shipping boom in the United States.

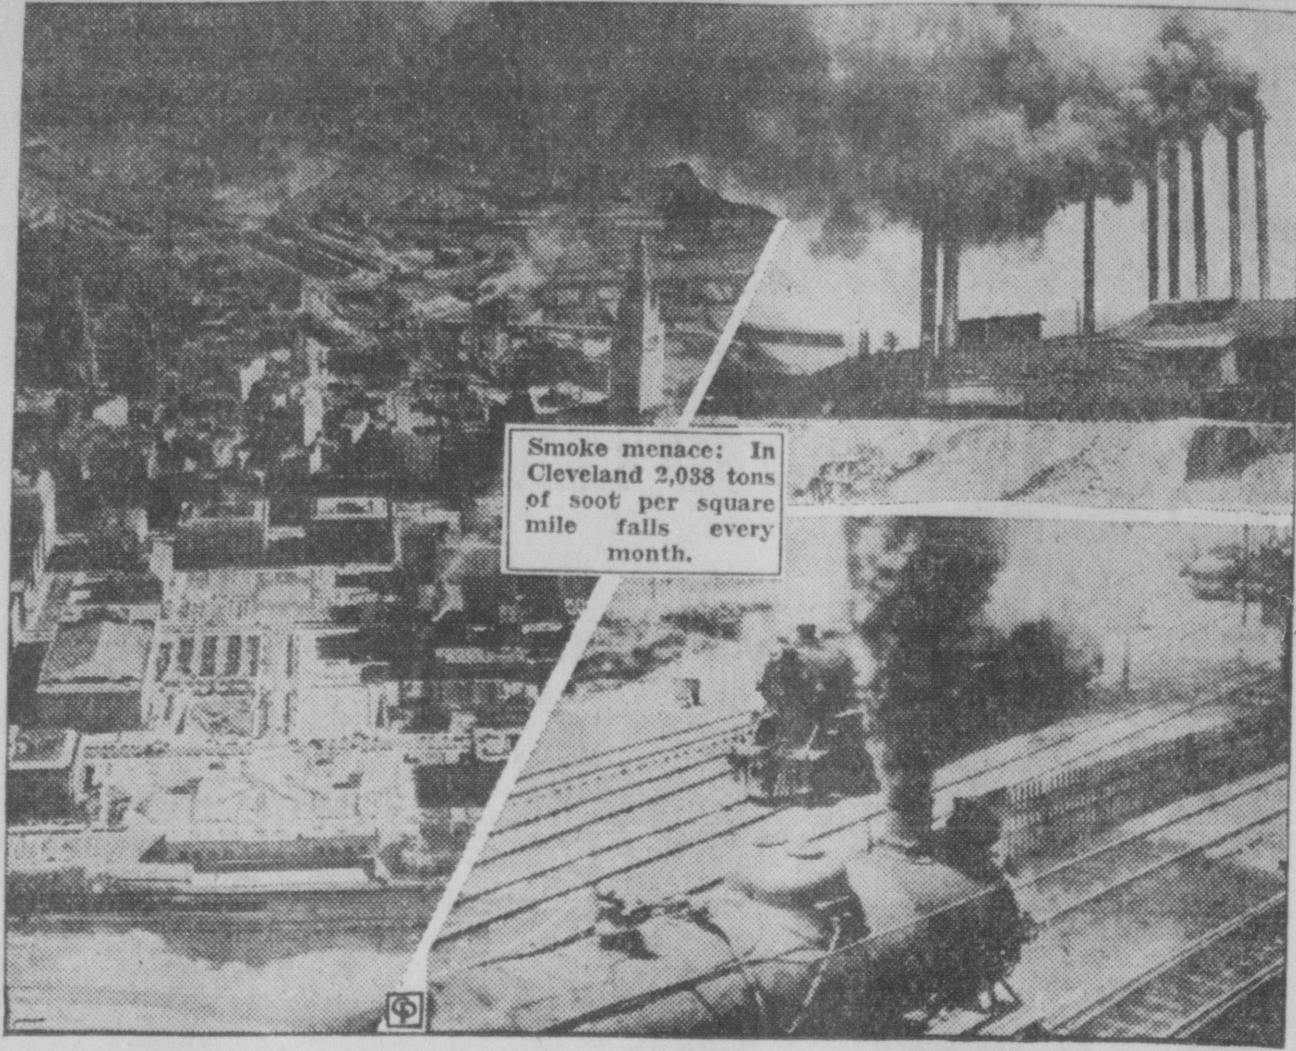

The enabling legislation which made the Free Port of New York possible was the Celler bill, which President Roosevelt signed on June 18, 1934. This act created a Free Trade Zones Board, consisting of the Secretaries of Commerce, War and the Treasury.

Aid to South America

It was expected that a large part of the New York Free Port's business would come from cargoes imported from South America and re-exported to Europe. Among products that probably will be handled, minerals, chemicals, hair products, leather, copra, sugar, rubber, and petroleum products.

The principal free ports in Europe now are Copenhagen, Danzig and Hamburg. The free port of

Here's What Smoke Costs You!

Smoke menace: In Cleveland 2,038 tons of soot per square mile falls every month.

CINCINNATI, — "You'd hide de fire, but w'at you gwine do wid de smoke?"

This Joel Chandler Harris proverb strikes a note today, "w'at you gwine do wid de smoke?"

"Yes?" you inquire. "But is smoke really a problem today? Isn't it just a discomfort?"

Smoke really is a problem, and it's more than a discomfort. Health officials and scientists are constantly trying to make you smoke conscious, that is, conscious that smoke is a demon, menacing your health, destroying your property, robbing your pocketbook, soiling your complexion, clouding your windows, dirtying your clothes.

Smoke Bill Is Huge

The tremendous cost of smoke in the United States was disclosed recently when L. B. Denning, president of the American Gas association, declared that the yearly smoke bill is $500,000,000. Of this, $140,000,000 is the cost of spoiled merchandise and of cleaning buildings. Smoke expense means $4 a year for every man, woman and Copenhagen was opened in 1894 and has been extended from time to time until at present it includes 117 acres of land territory and 82 acres of water. The owning company undertakes the warehousing, storing and transport of goods within the limits of the port at rates set by the Danish government.

Other free ports throughout the world are at Bremen, Bremerhaven, Brake, Cuxhaven, Geestemünde, Emden and Stettin in Germany; Stockholm, Gothenburg and Malmo in Sweden; Hango, Finland; Hong Kong, Singapore, Penang and Macao.

Origin in Middle Ages

The practice of creating free ports originated in the middle ages when certain cities granted restrictions from customary tariffs to certain towns to prevent collapse of foreign commerce. Leghorn, Italy, became a free port in 1547 for this reason and other Italian cities were granted similar privileges. Cities in the Hanseatic League of northern Europe had let up such a system at an early date and consequently they became the trading centers of the north. Privileges gradually were withdrawn from such cities, however, as other ports complained of the unfair advantages possessed by free ports and nations regretted the lost customs revenue.

In modern times there has been a revival of the free port system due to the increased emphasis on tariff barriers and the great growth of international trade with its consequent problems of import and export.

laryngitis and bronchitis occur. Proof of this was given several years ago by Dr. William C. White, pathologist, who compared the number of nose and throat specialists in smoky Pittsburgh and less-polluted Baltimore.

For Pittsburgh, 41 for a population of 580,000.

For Baltimore, 40 for a population of 730,000.

Destroys Much

Most subtle, less obvious is the destructive aspect of smoke. The recent depression has encouraged the use of cheap bituminous coal. This fuel contains sometimes as much as 5 per cent sulphur. This sulphur becomes sulphur dioxide gas in the furnace, unites with moisture in the air and attacks buildings, metals, fabrics. A chemist's report shows that one ton of bituminous coal may give off the equivalent of enough destructive sulphuric acid to fill a dozen automobile storage batteries. And in a town of 10,000, where bituminous coal is burned, enough acid is produced in one winter to fill 40 tank cars. Small wonder that buildings crumble, metals corrode, fabrics rot!

"What is being done about this menace?" And your question is logical.

Fighting Smoke

In a recently conducted survey of United States and Canada, 75 cities of 3,000 or more population have started smoke abatement campaigns. Encouraged by the Smoke Abatement league, which publishes yearly reports, Cincinnati leads in smoke abatement activity.

A smoke abatement ordinance in Chicago has proved successful. In 1930, tests showed a dust and soot deposit average of 390 tons per square mile per month, while in 1935 this was reduced to 72 tons.

The report of the United States department of commerce on the nine years of smoke abatement in Salt Lake City gives an excellent view of municipal smoke abatement.

The following conclusions may be drawn regarding smoke abatement at Salt Lake City:

1. The smoke from large industrial and heating plants has been reduced at least 90 per cent.

2. This reduction was effected by co-operative methods in improving plants and instructing

U. S. TO UNVEIL A.E.F. CHAPELS IN CEMETERIES

Many Other Memorials To Be Dedicated During Summer

GEN. PERSHING IS HEAD

Short History Provided For Each Ground

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(UP) Dedication of memorial chapels erected in each of the eight American cemeteries in Europe is planned for this summer by the Battle Monuments Commission.

A total of 30,900 American soldiers are buried in the Meuse-Argonne, Oise-Aisne, St. Mihiel, Aisne-Marne, Somme, Suresnes, Brookwood and Flanders Field cemeteries.

The commission, headed by Gen.

John J. Pershing, chief of the American Expeditionary forces in the World War, will complete plans soon for the dedication.

Field Movements Marked

Numerous other memorials marking movements of American soldiers in the war, have been placed by the commission, and will be dedicated.

Two bronze memorial tablets, one at Chaumont, France, and the other at Souilly, France, mark the headquarters of the American Expeditionary forces and the American First Army, respectively, during the war.

Other memorials have been erected at Montfaucon, Montsec, near Chateau-Thierry, Brest, Tours, near Bellcourt, on Blanc Mont Ridge (in the Champagne region) and Cantigny in France; Audenarde and near Ypres, in Belgium; and Gibraltar, Gibraltar.

Road Signs Set Up

Improved landscape designs have been installed in each of the American cemeteries, and a limited number of road signs showing directions to American cemeteries and memorials have been erected. To memorialize the valor of American soldiers, the commission is preparing a survey concerning operations of combat divisions during the World War.

The commission also has in preparation a short history and description of each American cemetery in Europe.

WALLACE ASKS FARMERS' AID FOR F.D.'S ACT

"Judicial Changes Needed to Aid Agriculture," Official Declares

O'NEAL FAVORS REVISION

Secretary May Tour Nation to Explain Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace called on farmers today to support President Roosevelt's Supreme Court reorganization proposal.

"I think that the farmers of the country know that judicial changes are necessary if we are to deal with agriculture as a national problem," Wallace said.

Wallace has called more than 100 farm leaders from every section of the country to Washington during the last two weeks for conferences in which the court proposal was discussed. Yesterday he led a group of 12 regional farm leaders to the White House for an hour and a half conference with President Roosevelt. "Roosevelt is for us and we're for him," Edward A. O'Neal president of the Farm Bureau Federation said.

Support sought Wallace's strategy, however, appears intended to initiate support for the court program from the farmers themselves, rather than by commitment of their organization leaders.

O'Neal, who usually works closely with Wallace, said he has no mandate from federation members as yet either to support or oppose the president's court program. He declined to express a personal opinion.

"I'm waiting to hear from the members of the federation before I attempt to speak for them," O'Neal said. He said they are being "advised of the situation."

The leaders of only two organizations have taken a definite stand. L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, opposed the president's proposal. L. C. Trousdale, Houston, Tex., said the American Rice Growers Association is 100 per cent for the proposal.

Wallace said he has reports from the farm states indicating that farmers virtually are unanimous for court reorganization. He added, however, that "the farmers aren't saying much one way or the other yet."

"Farmers usually take plenty of time to make up their mind," Wallace said. "They never will agree with some who refuse to view agriculture as a national problem. I have no doubt where their sympathies lie in this fight."

Speaking Tour Planned

Wallace tentatively plans a speaking tour of the midwest to "give the farmers a first-hand explanation of the new farm program," department of agriculture officials said. He has said that if he does go he will speak vigorously in support of Supreme Court reorganization.

DARBY-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

Feb. 12, Darby gathered its forces together and scrambled to New Holland to wind up their basketball schedule for the year. The girls were "jittery" at the start of the game but mastered their fears and got in there for all they were worth and really fought a battle. The score at the half showed Derby in the lead by a small margin of 7-6. The last half showed the real value of winning. Darby was in there to win with all they had. The final score a deadlock at 17-17 all. This gave Darby seven wins against three defeats, placing them in standing for selection to play in the tournament.

The boys' game proved also to be a hair-raiser. The score showed Derby to be ahead by an 8-3 lead at the half. Darby's defense became loose and allowed the score to go to 9-5 scramble. Still unable to connect with the old bucket New Holland came on. In the last few minutes of play the huskies from New Holland placed the deciding bucket in the old ring. A foul shot by Cox proved not enough so Darby goes defeated by a score of 14-13, a tough game to lose. It was a fight to the finish.

Both of Darby's teams will play Ashville. The girls will play Friday night Feb. 19. The boys' game is Saturday night Feb. 20.

Darby's orchestra will play at the tournament Thursday, Feb. 25 at the C.A.C. gym. The Senior Chapel Assembly was held Feb. 12, under the direction of the class advisor, L. L. Hill. It was a Lincoln program, paying tribute to that great American statesman from the backwoods, A. Lincoln.

Fourth Grade Parents Win Attendance Prize Again Monday Evening

The Ashville-Harrison P. T. A. held its February meeting Monday evening at the school building with over 100 in attendance. The fourth grade pupils, Miss Kaiserman, teacher, put on a very fine George Washington program. The talk given by the Rev. Mr. Peters, a native born Englishman, made the whole program a rather unique one. While his talk was mostly of contrasts between the customs of his native country and his adopted one he also gave his listeners some new facts about our first president.

The fourth grade parents again won the attendance banner as they have been doing all winter and it is going to be interesting to see if any other grade can take it away from them during the next two months.

CROOKED PATHS

A BEATEN path across a hillside or through a wood rarely runs straight. It turns aside for obstacles, makes concessions to uneven ground and the rise and fall of the slope or turns aside for the vantage or view of a better vision of the destination. Yet it was first made by the feet of men who were chiefly concerned to get through directly and quickly.

Most of the highways of life run likewise crooked, curving and twisting constantly from the straight path of intention. Little things block the trail, and it is easier to avoid them than to remove or surmount them. Tempting paths of easy going are offered on either side. Sometimes the straight trail is lost beyond recovery; often it is won again only after much time wasted in wandering.

Most of us start out in confidence and determination toward a chosen goal. We hold fast to our course so long as good intention is fresh; we lose it when the distractions of the way steal our eyes from the goal ahead. This is the most tragic wastage of the world, whereby high hopes go for nothing and human strength and talent are lost to the service of mankind. Such waste is avoided by looking for guidance both backward and forward—back to the zeal of the beginning and forward to the hope of the end.

POWER OF SUGGESTION

THIS has been characterized as the age of tolerance. Tolerance implies an open mind, the absence of blind bigotry, possession of the power to reason, and a willingness to hear both sides to every question before forming one's own conclusions. It follows, therefore, that modern society, being more tolerant of the opinions and manners of others, should be more open to suggestion. It is probably a fact that the great mass of Americans was never before more subject to suggestion.

Everybody has heard of the power of suggestion and everybody has seen it demonstrated through the medium of political reform, advertising and slang, catchphrases. A spacious slogan can win acclaim for a creed or cause previously universally rejected and obviously fallacious. Than the catch phrase there is no more effective camouflage for the spurious.

Suggestion plays a most important part in business. Advertising, show windows and show cases owe their origin and usefulness to the power of suggestion. Contrary to a popular impression, the merchant advertises and displays his wares to create a desire for possession among those who see them and it is through suggestion that the desire is created.

It's so hard to find a man who likes to be reformed by a fellow no better than he is. Zealous workers in a cause are those who give their time to make you give your money.

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

Is it not rather odd that congress progressives, who have been enthusiastic New Dealers, regardless of their various party labels, by no means are friendly, generally speaking, to President Roosevelt's plan to liberalize the federal courts, especially the supreme tribunal?

Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin is an exception. There are a few ultra-liberals among representatives who are for the Roosevelt program, too.

But it isn't the rule. Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, who was radical enough to have campaigned as running mate of the present Senator La Follette's father in an independent presidential ticket in 1924 and still is one of Capitol Hill's most advanced political thinkers, is downright vicious in denunciation of the Rooseveltian suggestion. Though not so bitter as Wheeler, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska also is in opposition.

MILITANTLY HOSTILE
In short, old-time congressional liberals, on an average, seem rather more militantly hostile than any other group to the presidential scheme. I know senators and representa-

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

IRRECONCILABLES GANGED UP

WASHINGTON — Out of the Battle of the Supreme Court have emerged two small Senatorial armies, diametrically opposite, but both contributing to the sabotage of Roosevelt's reform of the judiciary.

One is the same little band of irreconcilables which fought Woodrow Wilson on the League of Nations. It is highly organized, hard-boiled, effective. The others are the Senate liberals—unorganized, heterogeneous, and in a state of pathetic dither.

Both are causing a lot of worry at the White House.

Here is the line-up of the old League of Nations warriors who have now turned their vitriol on Roosevelt:

Senators Borah and Hiram Johnson — expected to carry the brunt of the floor fighting when the President's Court proposals reach the debating stage.

Cabot Lodge—youthful grandson of Henry Cabot Lodge, who fought Wilson so bitterly. Borah and Johnson hover paternally near young Cabot.

Alice Longworth—always bitter against Cousin Franklin, and now throwing the force of her column and radio broadcasts against his Court plan.

Bill Hard—chief journalistic lance of the League fight, is now back in Washington on the Republican National Committee payroll.

Behind the scenes also are George Moses, ex-Senator from New Hampshire, and a League bitter-ender, together with vehemently critical "Little Artie" Robinson, ex-Senator from Indiana, now practicing law in Washington.

Most of these are close friends and see each other frequently. Mrs. Longworth flits in and out of the Senate Gallery and lunch-room like an animated shuttlecock, and is one of the inspirations of Frank Kent's bitter comment. Young Lodge lives across the street from her, and Bill Hard is a frequent visitor at her house.

If the President's Court proposals are defeated, it will be due in no small part to Cousin Alice.

NOTE: Mrs. Longworth seldom misses a White House reception, on one occasion had friends wangle her an invitation to a Roosevelt family gathering from which she had been omitted. Since then the President and Mrs. Roosevelt have made it a point to invite her to all receptions.

SABOTAGING LIBERALS

The other group—the Senate Liberals, usually favorable to Roosevelt — have drawn caustic, scathing comment from their liberal friends throughout the Administration.

In fact, the bitterness between the Liberals who go along with the President and those who don't is almost as intense as their bitterness for the Liberty League—and much more amusing.

"Traitor" and "ingrate" are among the mildest epithets the pro-Rooseveltians hurl at the liberal opposition.

"Why did you go along with him in November?" "Why didn't you form your own third party?" "Why did you cling so tenaciously to the Roosevelt bandwagon?" are just a few of the queries hurled at Senators Bone, Clark, Norris and Wheeler.

Some Questions Nurses Must Answer of Eyes

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE FOLLOWING questions are those which the nurse or social worker is supposed to be able to answer about the eyes:

I. What can a nurse do to prevent birth defects of the eyes?
She must help in educating each expectant mother to insist on the use of a prophylactic in the eyes of her baby at the time of birth, in order to guard against all infections. One per cent silver nitrate is the prophylactic usually used.

II. What is meant by testing of visual acuity?
The testing of visual acuity is a means of determining acuteness of central vision in each eye. It is the most common method of detecting deviations from normal. By using this test it is possible to find many persons of all age groups who are in need of examination by an oculist. There are some eye conditions which do not affect central vision. The nurse can observe evidences suggesting visual difficulty, such as abnormal posture of head or body during the test, frowning, an obvious effort to see the chart during the test, the eyes filling with tears.

III. When should the first test of visual acuity be given?
A vision test should be part of the health examination of every preschool child.
Charts for performing this test can be obtained from the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, 50 West Fifth street, New York, N. Y.

Most Common Difficulties
IV. What are the most common eye difficulties found among children?
1. Errors or refraction of various degrees and seriousness.
2. Failure of the two eyes to work together, arising from a variety of causes and generally referred to as strabismus or squint.
3. Congenital and hereditary eye defects.
V. Why do the two eyes sometimes fail to work together?
1. A difference in the state of refraction of each eye.
2. There may be imperfect vision in one eye at birth.
3. There may be a deviation from normal in the muscles which control the movements of the eye.
4. The fusion faculty may be lacking or fail to develop perfectly.
5. Eye disease or injury may be responsible for the failure of the two eyes to work together.
VI. Does reading in bed harm the eyes?
If the proper posture is maintained, adequate light is supplied free from glare, and attention is given to the selection of the size of the type and the character of the paper upon which the printing is done, reading in bed is not harmful to the eyes. Reading in bed during an illness should not be encouraged, even with the physical arrangements mentioned above, except with the consent of the physician. After a serious illness special attention should be directed to the protection and care of the eyes. During convalescence the delicate structures of the eyes may be damaged through misuse and overwork.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clending can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".

Poems That Live

A STEIN SONG From "Spring"

Give a rouse, then, in the Maytime
Turn night-time into daytime
With the sunlight of good cheer!
For it's always fair weather
When good fellows get together

With a stein on the table and a
good song ringing clear.
When the wind comes up from
Cuba,

And the birds are on the wing,
And our hearts are patting juba
To the banjo of the spring,
Then it's no wonder whether
The boys will get together
With a stein on the table and a
cheer for everything.

For we're all frank-and-twenty
When the spring is in the air;
And we've faith and hope a-plenty,
And we've life and love to spare;
And it's birds of a feather
When we all get together,
When a stein on the table and
a heart without a care.
For we know the world is glorious,
And the goal a golden thing,
And that God is not censorious
When his children have their fling;
And life slips its tether
When the boys get together,
With a stein on the table in the fellowship of spring.

THE WONDERFUL WORLD

Great, wide, beautiful, wonderful World.
With the wonderful water round
you curled,
And the wonderful grass upon your breast,

World, you are beautifully dressed.
The wonderful air is over me,
And the wonderful wind is shaking the tree—

It walks on the water, and whirls
the mills,
And talks to itself on the tops of the hills.

You friendly Earth, how far do
you go,
With the wheat-fields that nod and
the rivers that flow,
And people upon you for thousands of miles?

Ah! you are so great, and I am so small,
I tremble to think of you, World,
at all;
And yet, when I said my prayers
today,
A whisper inside me seemed to say,

"You are more than the Earth,
though you are such a dot;
You can love and think, and the Earth cannot!"

PITTSBURGH PRESS SAYS DR. SUTHERLAND TO RESIGN COACHING POSITION

FEUD WITH DON HARRISON CITED AS ACT'S CAUSE

Noted Mentor Embarks On Speaking Tour to Two Eastern Cities

STATEMENT IS QUOTED

Youths to be Considered in Jock's Decision

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23.—(UP)—Dr. Jock Sutherland will present his resignation as head football coach at University of Pittsburgh Thursday as a result of his "feuding" with Director of Athletics W. Don Harrison, the Pittsburgh Press said today in an exclusive story.

The famous coach has decided on this action rather than embroil the university "in a controversy which is neither dignified nor to the best interests of the university," the Press said.

The story gave no indication whether the resignation would be accepted, but indicated Chancellor John G. Bowman may take some action in the controversy should students and alumni give a rousing demonstration.

Coach Sutherland left here last night for Endicott and Buffalo, N. Y., on a speaking tour; the Press quoted him as saying: "I will not step aside of my own volition. I couldn't do that after what happened today when nearly every boy I have coached the last year came to me and asked if it were true that I was leaving the university."

Boys Considered
"After all," Dr. Sutherland said, "these boys are the ones I can't let down. They have fought for Pitt. They are the finest squad of youngsters I have ever been in contact with, and when it comes down to the final analysis, they—not me or anyone else—are the ones to be considered."

"Dr. Sutherland has under advisement an offer which will make him double the $10,000 he receives for coaching at his alma mater," the Press says.

The Sutherland-Harrison feud broke out in Los Angeles last New Year's day after Pitt defeated the Washington Huskies. Harrison allegedly threatened to "break" Sutherland as a coach because Sutherland requested "spending money" for the players who were to be entertained that night.

Two Don't Speak

The two haven't spoken since. The controversy is expected to come up for consideration before the alumni at their meeting tomorrow in connection with Pitt's 150th anniversary.

Harrison denied the entire story of the "feud" with Sutherland. He said the differences between him and Sutherland are "grossly exaggerated."

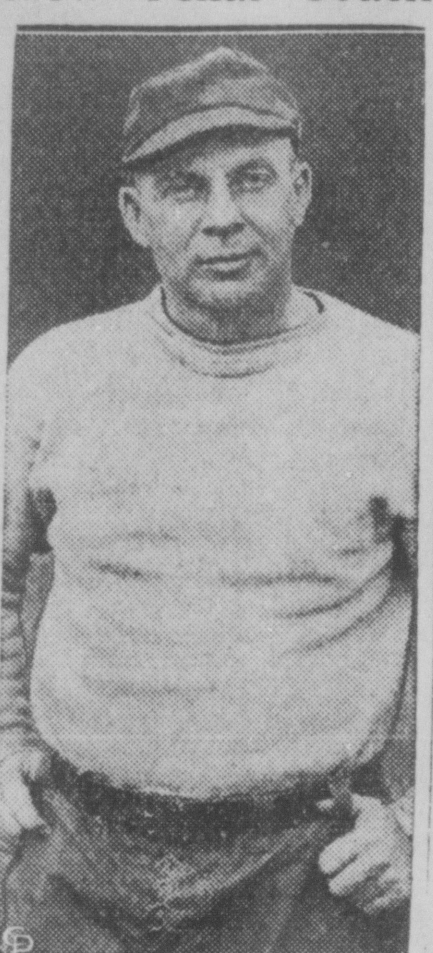

Coach Sutherland, after 13 years as Pitt's head coach in which his teams lost only 13 games, is well liked on the campus and some action may be taken by students today following their return from the holiday.

The nervous tension of recent weeks has taken ten pounds from Mrs. Simpson. It is to be hoped for the sake of the Duke of Windsor, however, that the aura of allure still clings to the remaining poundage.

AMBERS' STOCK CLIMBS AFTER DEFEATING ROTH

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(UP)—The prestige of Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers, Herkimer, N. Y., took a sharp upturn today as a result of his decisive 10-round victory last night over Al Roth, of New York.

Before a crowd of 3,500 at the St. Nicholas palace, Ambers won every round from Roth, and had him bloody and badly battered at the finish.

Ambers weighed 136½, Roth 137½.

Ambers had under advisement an offer which will make him double the $10,000 he receives for coaching at his alma mater," the Press says.

The Sutherland-Harrison feud broke out in Los Angeles last New Year's day after Pitt defeated the Washington Huskies. Harrison allegedly threatened to "break" Sutherland as a coach because Sutherland requested "spending money" for the players who were to be entertained that night.

Harrison denied the entire story of the "feud" with Sutherland. He said the differences between him and Sutherland are "grossly exaggerated."

Coach Sutherland, after 13 years as Pitt's head coach in which his teams lost only 13 games, is well liked on the campus and some action may be taken by students today following their return from the holiday.

The nervous tension of recent weeks has taken ten pounds from Mrs. Simpson. It is to be hoped for the sake of the Duke of Windsor, however, that the aura of allure still clings to the remaining poundage.

BUCKEYE QUINT STILL IN PATH OF MICHIGAN U.

Wolverines Defeat Purdue to Make Late Bid For Big Ten Crown

ILLINOIS LEADING AGAIN

Jean Smith Scores 21 Points Against Ohio State

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—(UP)—Illinois, Michigan and Minnesota raced a whisker apart toward the Big Ten basketball championship today with only one first division foe in the way of a triple tie for the title.

Ohio State, a contender until last night, threatened Michigan's strenuous bid which spurred into new prominence with a 31 to 16 victory over Purdue.

Illinois meets only Iowa and Northwestern on the road. Minnesota, unbeatable at home, plays Wisconsin and Northwestern at Northwestern at Minneapolis and the Maroons at Chicago. All these teams were buried deep in the second division.

The Illini, once more undisputed league leaders, appeared to have the easiest path despite the fact Northwestern already defeated them once. They ended their home stand last night by whipping Wisconsin for the second time, 48 to 31.

Michigan ran away from Purdue, Minnesota dumped Iowa, 44 to 25, and Northwestern, upset Ohio State, 44 to 29.

Purdue was tied in knots by the most effective defense set up in the Big Ten this season. The mighty Boilermaker scoring machine which set a new mark against Illinois was throttled to eight points each period.

Meanwhile, the Wolverines worked their height advantage for all it was worth, feeding Johnny Gee, 6 foot, nine inch center, all the shots he could handle.

After the first period, which ended 8 to 8, Purdue failed to threaten once. Jewell Young added a mere five points to his league leading scoring total.

For a half, Minnesota's title hopes where in extreme danger against Iowa. The Hawkeyes clung within a point at 20 to 19 as the half ended, but the Gophers surged back with a puncture-proof defense and folded up Iowa with only six more points.

Illinois' eighth victory of the year was bound up in its first half assault. Leading 26 to 9 at the half, the Illini permitted Wisconsin to make it a contest, then stepped away quickly, 48 to 31.

Northwestern's sudden awakening against Ohio State was the personal triumph of Jean Smith, veteran center, who scored 21 points. The Buckeyes, fighting for their last shred of hope for the title, fell back, 20 to 9, at the end of the first period and never came back.

GIANT MANAGER DUE TO ARRIVE IN HAVANA CAMP

HAVANA, Feb. 23.—(UP)—Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants was scheduled to arrive today and take charge of his players who have been training since last Friday. Terry was delayed because of influenza. Shortstop Dick Bartell signed his 1937 contract yesterday leaving only four Giants out of the fold.

OUTSIDER WINS SANTA ANITA'S $45,425 PURSE

SANTA ANITA PARK, ARCADIA, Cal., Feb. 23.—(UP)—Fairy Hill, the Foxcatcher farms three-year-old stablemate of Rosemont, was in Santa Anita's hall of fame today after blazing home a winner in the $50,000 derby yesterday.

Fairy Hill was overlooked in betting and went to the post a 14 to 1 choice. On the basis of the credible showing in the derby, however, the chestnut gelding jumped into the front rank of contenders for the Kentucky derby in May, next big money event on the calendar for three-year-olds.

There was a possibility that Fairy Hill might be entered in the Saturday with Rosemont and Goldseekers, since he has been assigned a weight of only 102 pounds.

A crowd of 45,000 persons poured $1,177,674 into the pari-mutuel windows during the Washington's birthday program, and wagered $183,584 on the derby. Fairy Hill paid off handsomely with $30.80 on $2 win tickets, $20.60 to place and $13.20 to show, and took a purse of $45,425.

Favorites were left behind in the jostling dash of 21 thoroughbreds.

KEEPER TAKES BEES TO DIXIE EVERY WINTER

PEMBROKE, N. Y. (UP)—John N. DeMuth, Pembroke's 55-year-old "bee-man," has migrated south with his horde of bees again for the eighth consecutive winter.

DeMuth and his son Jourdain, are in Lake County, Fla., enjoying the southern sun while their 300 colonies of bees busy themselves gathering nectar from blossoms. In the spring, the two men expect to travel home with at least 1,000 colonies of bees and several 60-gallon drums of honey, most of it orange honey, which DeMuth says is the "finest that can be made."

Every year when the weather gets cold DeMuth packs up his bees and heads south, where the busy creatures can continue their task of gathering honey.

"The important thing is to keep moving," he said before heading south. "We make the trip from Pembroke to southern Florida

About This And That In Many Sports

Four Teams Favored

On form, Pickaway, Scioto, Ashville and New Holland should survive Thursday evening's quarterfinal contests in the county tournament. — They meet Muhlenberg, Salter Creek, Walnut and Perry townships respectively. — Any of the four underdogs is likely to pull an upset. — If the favored teams go through their games, Friday evening will provide one of the most interesting tournament sessions offered fans in a dozen years — Scioto and Pickaway would tangle and so would Ashville and New Holland. — In the girls' fray, Friday, will be Darby and Scioto, both defeated in the first round. * * *

Splendid Career Ends

Stanton Jones, one of the most sought officials in central Ohio, will referee the high school-Delaware game Wednesday evening. — The contest will close one of the finest athletic careers Circleville has had in a long while. — Don Henry will be playing his last game as a Tiger. — Of course, he will participate in the central district tournament, but that will not be played in Circleville. — Henry has taken part in athletics since he came to this city. — His work has been outstanding. — Always in condition, and setting a real example for other cagers and gridlers, Don Henry is the kind of athlete of which any school can be proud. — He has been a mainstay in basketball and in football, and his place will be hard to fill. * * *

What of Title Bout?

IF Jim Braddock and Joe Louis fight in Chicago, who will win? — Many are the fight fans who say Louis can take Braddock with ease; many others believe the champ can successfully defend his title. — Don't get too steamed up over the contest, at least just yet, because Madison Square Garden is going to have something to say, especially since Braddock is already on a contract to defend his title against Schmeling there in June. * * *

Big Ten in Turmoil

The Big Ten was tossed into a turmoil again Monday evening, this time by Michigan's ball team, which turned back Purdue with ease in a 31-16 game. — Ohio State took one on the chin on Northwestern's court; Minnesota won again, and so did Illinois. — The Indiana coach, who said the league would be mixed up from start to finish of the schedule, was about right. * * *

EPITAPH HAILS BUCKING HORSE OF RODEO FAME

JOHNSTON, Colo. (UP)—Final tribute was paid to Midnight, the most famous horse ever to come out of a bucking chute at a rodeo, when a group of cowboys erected a marker over a lonely grave on the Colorado plains, inscribed with their own home-made epitaph.

Cowhands on the McCarthy & Elliott ranch showed the dynamic little black horse during his career collaborated in writing the epitaph. It reads:

"Under this sod lies a great bucking hoss.

"There never lived a cowboy he couldn't toss.

"His name was Midnight; his coat black as coal.

"If there is a hoss-heaven, please God, rest his soul."

Midnight was the arch-enemy of the top "waddies" who rode the nation's rodeo circuit to earn their living "working broncs." He was ridden only once in 14 years in which he came bucking out of the chutes from one coast to the other. The time he failed to toss his rider was after he became old.

The epitaph and new headstone were decided upon by ranch hands during their talks on long evenings about the "buckin'gest horse of them all." They recalled that Midnight was a really great show horse without a trace of viciousness. He never trampled a rider after throwing him, but would nose his victim into the tanbark and trot back to the chutes.

non-stop in 36 hours with three drivers on the truck.

"The reason? It's just this. While you are moving the wind blowing through the hives and the vibration of the truck keeps the bees quiet. As soon as you stop, they start jamming up against the screens, and if you left the truck standing for half an hour all the bees would be crushed to death."

Because the hives usually increase about three fold during a Florida season, DeMuth expects to make four of the 36-hour non-stop trips to bring home his bees next spring.

MANY BETS RESULTED

EACH SIDE had a game in when I dealt the following hand, sitting South, dealing each player except myself a seven-card suit. There was a large gallery and the hand proved to be so interesting that many bets were made on what might have happened, had the hand been played at spades, clubs or diamonds.

Bidding went: West, 1-Diamond; North, 1-Spade; East, 2-Hearts; South, 3-Clubs; West, 3-Diamonds; North, 3-Spades; East, 4-Hearts. I declined to double that last call, which I believed could be defeated, as I feared West then would bid 5-Diamonds and make it. Luckily my partner bid no more.

I led my lone diamond. Dummy's K won. Declarer knew that a singleton had been led, so he went up with his Ace of hearts, knowing that I held the K and sought a ruff. Then the Q of hearts was led. My K won. I led a spade. The K won. North led back his last diamond. I ruffed. My Ace of clubs won the fourth and setting trick.

The bets on what would have happened at clubs or spades were easily settled. At clubs, West would have led his lone heart, resulting in a loss of one heart trick to the Ace. A return of the Q, which South had to cover with the K and have ruffed, or else the Q would win and West would ruff a third round of hearts, by playing his 9 of clubs. At best defenders must have won four tricks, setting 5-Clubs, two tricks. Spades also must have gone down, by losing a trick in hearts, a ruff, a club and a diamond. The chief betting was done on whether West could make game against any defense open to North and South. North bet all-comers that 5-Diamonds could not be defeated. It is obvious that both black Aces may be taken, no matter what West attempts. After defenders had taken both black Aces West would hold one spade and one club from which he must rid his hand, either by having dummy ruff twice, or by establishing dummy's hearts, upon which he could discard black losers. Betting against West's ability to go game was based upon inability to see how declarer could often enough pass entry from hand to hand to accomplish his purpose.

An opening lead of a trump will give West a grand slam, no matter what the defenders do afterwards, as declarer will win 7 tricks with diamonds and 6 tricks with hearts. Before tomorrow see if any other defense can defeat game at diamonds.

COUNTIANS HEAR ARMY ENGINEERS, OFFICIALS DISCUSS FLOOD CONTROL

PICKAWAY PART IN BIG PROGRAM NOT DISCUSSED

Estimated Costs to be Given to Congress in Short Time, Gen. Tyler Announces

BULKLEY, SECRET THERE

Another Conference Planned in Columbus March 15

Eight Pickaway countians went to Huntington, W. Va., Monday to hear army engineers disclose flood control plans for the Ohio valley. Harry J. Briggs, service manager of the Farm Bureau and a member of the advisory committee of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, said the plans explained were of a general nature for the entire valley. Exact plans for counties were not discussed. Mr. Briggs believes the plan of the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy program would be used in this district. Under this plan Pickaway county had only one reservoir located along Deer creek, north of Williamsport.

Brig. Gen. Max Tyler, assistant chief of the army engineers, said a report on flood control in the Ohio valley and estimated costs would go to congress within 10 days.

Speakers at the meeting, the fourth annual session of the Ohio Valley Conservation and Flood Control Congress, advocated a flood control program financed entirely by the government and one that could be completed in the shortest possible time.

Senator Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland, outlined the Bulkley-Barkley-Secret flood control bill before congress, which calls for a system of headwaters. Rep. Robert T. Secrest of Seneca, O., said there was a "general agreement the nation wants flood control and wants it quickly. The only possible way to get it is to make it a 100 per cent federal project," he said.

Those present at the congress in addition to Mr. Briggs were Mr. and Mrs. James I. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Caldwell, Hulse Hays and his son, Hulse, Jr., and J. B. Cromley, Walnut township, a member of the federal committee with Mr. Briggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith went to Washington, D. C. from the Huntington meeting where he will obtain further information on plans for Pickaway county.

Another meeting on flood control plans will be held in Columbus on March 15.

SEGAL ORDERED TO QUIT SAFETY DIRECTOR'S JOB

would be ready to co-operate for the benefit of Chillicothe. The letter of discharge read: "Because of a difference of opinions in matter of policy pertaining to the operation of the police department, you are hereby requested to relinquish your office as director of the department of public safety for the city of Chillicothe, effective as of today."

Letter Follows Parley

The letter was made public by Mr. Segal and Mr. Ford as they emerged from the latter's office at City Hall after a conference lasting nearly a half hour.

Mayor Ford, beyond expressing his opinion of Mr. Segal as a business man and citizen, had no statement to make. Mr. Segal likewise commented he had no statement to make, said later the "differences" had been over the numbers game.

"Some time ago I asked Mr. Ford for a letter authorizing me to direct the chief to stop the 'numbers' games," Mr. Segal said.

"I asked him again this morning and he evaded the issue. When I asked him who was running the police department, he said he was. I then said 'I better get out,' he said 'you're fired!'"

Mr. Ford had issued a letter to O. B. Atwell when the latter, as safety director, ordered the removal of slot machines early in Mr. Ford's term of office, Mr. Segal pointed out.

"Received No Co-operation"

"I have received no co-operation," he added, "particularly from the police department, where the chief apparently is working for the mayor, not for me as the safety director."

Mr. Segal promised a detailed statement of his position.

Mr. Segal is the third safety director to serve under Mayor Ford. O. B. Atwell served from Jan. 1, 1936 to June 30th; Ernest Augustus from July 1st to Sept. 30th. Mr. Segal took over Oct. 1st of last year.

Mr. Ford, in his nearly 14 months of office, also has had two service directors. His first, Edgar B. Hess, was discharged last month when the grader question reached white heat.

Speculate on Appointment

No intimation was given at City Hall as to Mr. Segal's successor, though Carl Orr, who served for a short time as safety director during the first term of Mayor Robert Gunning, was at City Hall earlier in the morning.

Asked if it were true that he had somebody to take over the position, Mr. Ford said "no." The safety director Tuesday is to receive bids for purchase of new safety department equipment.

The mayor likewise refused to discuss the "differences of opinion" referred to in the discharge, but blamed newspapers for widening the rift between him and Mr. Segal. Several weeks ago Mr. Ford made pointed references toward Mr. Segal regarding the purchase of a grader and newspapers quoted him. The mayor had said he expected his cabinet to stick with him or resign.

Girl Holds Jail Tryst With Dean

How Lucille Turner managed to remain three hours in the cell of Dayton Dean, confessed Black Legion triggerman, without jail authorities discovering her absence from the women's ward, puzzles Detroit authorities who have launched an investigation. Miss Turner, a 17-year-old runaway from Asheville, N. C., kept a three-hour tryst with Dean in his cell, he even serving her with dinner from food which he had been allowed to keep in his cell during that time. The girl told conflicting stories of how she managed to get into the cell, at first saying she climbed down a grill work from the eighth floor to Dean's cell on the seventh floor and later that she had been taken up in an elevator. Police reported the finding of a wrench and a twisted bolt in the grillwork in Dean's cell, intimating a possible escape plot.

In addition, the A. F. of L. has prepared an NRA substitute measure which may be introduced after receiving White House approval.

It provides for congressional prescription of fair trade practices, wages, hours and working conditions, and outlines enforcement methods which may be followed by the attorney general.

One additional recommendation receiving close attention from the White House is that formulated by Major George L. Berry's council for industrial progress. It seeks establishment of a fair practices act which would advance and extend the jurisdiction of the federal trade commission and grant labor protective rights.

The question now before the administration is whether the licensing method, a broader federal trade commission, new court powers, or conceivably establishment of a new governmental agency will be the method employed to assure minimum wages and maximum hours.

President Roosevelt committed his second term to this end in a

Mr. Hall was returning to his home after a visit to the downtown district, residents said, and walked into the highway against the traffic signal. The auto was driven by John Van Horn, Amanda high school pupil.

Admits Killing Missing Girl

ALEXANDER MEYER, 20-year-old son of a Philadelphia coal broker, has been charged with murder in the death of Helen Meyer, 16-year-old Coatesville, Pa., schoolgirl, whose body was found in a well on a farm adjoining that of Meyer, near Coatesville. Arrested in connection with the case, police quoted Meyer as saying he accidentally ran down and killed the girl with his truck and hid her body in the well. Miss Meyer had been missing for days.

STORK IS LOSER TO PHYSICIAN IN RACE OVER ICE

LA POINTE, Wis., Feb. 23—(UP)—The story of a doctor's heroic race by dog sled through a swirling blizzard across the slush of Lake Superior to attend the birth of two babies on ice-locked Madeline Island, was told today by visitors from the island.

Late Monday night Charles Gootchie, an island resident, staggered through the driving snowstorm to the cabin of Howard Russell, who owns a dog team. Gootchie explained that he needed a doctor for his wife and for Mrs. Reuben Dissell, also an island resident.

The men started out by dog sled to Bayfield where they knew they could find Dr. M. J. Robertson. There was no trail. The snow stung their faces and blinded them. The ice creaked with the weight of the sled.

Dr. Robertson climbed out of bed and the three started back for the island. They arrived at 3 a. m. At 3:45 the doctor assisted at the birth of a son to Mrs. Dissell. Fifteen minutes later he was in the Gootchie home nearly a mile further down the road attending Mrs. Gootchie who gave birth to a daughter.

At daylight Dr. Robertson mushed back to Bayfield where he attended his routine practice.

DAVEY TO SPEAK TO LEGISLATURE AT 10:15 TONIGHT

COLUMBUS, Feb. 23—(UP)—Appearing before a joint session of the legislature tonight, and speaking over the radio, Governor Davey will present his biennial state budget, outline tax proposals and call for immediate action to break the tie-up of funds that is impeding relief in several large counties.

The address is scheduled for 10:15 p. m. That hour was selected in order to obtain radio time.

With the flow of state relief funds into the counties stopped since early January, the governor has announced he will ask the legislature to amend the sales tax law to make cash available at once to pay grants under the $3,000,000 stop-gap relief appropriation for the period from Jan. 1 to April 15.

Heart Handled For Two Hours, Man to Recover

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23—(UP)—Mathew Ben Moore, 23-year-old Vallejo evangelist whose heart was exposed and handled for two hours yesterday in a delicate operation, today appeared likely to recover. The operation was performed by Dr. Claude S. Beck of Cleveland before a group of distinguished surgeons.

The rare operation was necessary because of partial calcification of the pericardial sac, the protective membrane which surrounds the heart, was blocking the normal functions of the circulatory system and forcing the patient's blood back into the brain.

Removal of the diseased membrane required nearly two hours, during which Dr. Beck handled the heart almost constantly. The operative procedure was devised by Doctor Beck after 15 years of research at Western Reserve university.

Physicians said that when the heart was brought into view it appeared lifeless instead of pulsing regularly as it should, the muscles apparently held rigid by the diseased membrane. Doctor Beck stripped this membrane while two other surgeons held the aperture open.

SEGAL ORDERED TO QUIT SAFETY DIRECTOR'S JOB

Mayor James Ford, Chillicothe 'Dictator', Discharges Aide in 'Numbers' Dispute

ORDER MAY BRING FIGHT

Official Has Ousted Third Head of City Department

CHILLICOTHE, Feb. 23—Mayor James E. Ford Monday requested Safety Director Sam Segal "to relinquish your office" and thus set loose a wave of conjecture as to what next may Chillicothe expect.

Chief object of speculation was the fate of the "numbers" game, over which, according to Mr. Segal, the break between him and the mayor occurred.

Aside from this issue, with its many possible complications, remained the question of whether Mr. Ford will be able to oust the safety director without filing charges and proving them to the satisfaction of two-thirds of city council.

Mr. Segal, pledging himself to resist removal, threw down the gauntlet to the mayor in a statement. "Let him file charges with council—then we'll have a show down."

Solicitor Questions Move

Right of Mayor Ford to remove a cabinet member was questioned by Solicitor Kenneth T. Stevens, who said he would have a statement to make Tuesday after he had opportunity to make a more thorough examination of the law. "Differences of opinion" were cited as cause for the action by Mr. Ford, who told reporters that he respected Mr. Segal as a business man and public-spirited citizen, with whom he always

Sales Tax Fund Low In County

The February distribution of sales tax for the entire county is less than the share Circleville alone received in January.

Auditor Forrest Short announced Tuesday the February distribution of tax collected in January amounts to $1,286.97. Circleville's share was $640.50.

In January the total tax distributed amounted to $3,192.58 of which Circleville received $1,552.89.

The auditor's office made a distribution of auto license fees for the period ending Dec. 30, last, amounting to $166.96. The county's share is $152.84, and the city's $9.62. The balance goes to corporations.

FOUNDER OF AGE PENSION SYSTEM GOES ON TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(UP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, gray-haired founder of the $200-per-month pension movement, a year ago a potent though unknown quantity in politics, goes on trial in district court charged with contempt of the house of representatives.

As defiant as when he walked out on the house committee that investigated his pension plan last spring, the aging physician, promised that he would go to jail rather than retreat from his position—that he had a perfect right to refuse to testify. He would not be satisfied to be found guilty and released on probation as were two of his former associates two weeks ago.

"I am not seeking mercy, but justice," he said.

The present force of the Townsend Old Age pension movement is unknown. At one time its income, made up by ten cent a month contributions from millions of aged men and women, amounted to a stupendous sum.

LABOR APPROVAL AWAITED

Enforcement plan Included in Federation Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(UP)—The administration has virtually completed a series of legislative measures to restore the labor provisions of NRA, the United Press was informed today by sources close to the White House.

It was believed, however that no decision has yet been made whether any or all of these measures will be considered by congress until President Roosevelt's Judiciary reorganization program has been acted on.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was reliably reported is awaiting definite word from organized labor factions regarding the methods they favor for restoring wage and hour provisions established under the Blue Eagle.

Conferences Planned

It is possible that he will seek future conferences with leaders of the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization before any omnibus bill is drafted from the proposals already advanced.

Mr. Roosevelt has talked with President William Green and Counsel Charlton Ogburn of the Federation; with John L. Lewis and other CIO leaders; and with Harper Sibley, head of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, regarding the NRA substitute program.

The fact that the administration is committed to an equalization of profits with the boosting of purchasing power was emphasized to the United Press by a member of the president's cabinet.

The objectives he outlined were:

1. "Safe and sound business progress based on reasonable and legitimate profits.
2. "A balanced relationship between all the interrelated segments composing our economic and social life.
3. "The simplest, most economical and efficient governmental service."

Path Pointed Out

The president has already shown congress the path he hopes it will take in administrative reorganization, basing his recommendations on the Brownlow report drafted by expert advisers.

The principal wage and hour bills now before congress are:

1. The O'Mahoney licensing bill providing for the federal licensing of corporations in inter-state commerce.

The local Red Cross fund amounts to approximately $4,300.

Minimum Farm Income Discussed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(UP)—Congressional farm leaders today began drafting legislation for a federal price-fixing program to assure 4,000,000 farmers a minimum annual income of $1,000.

Rep. Wright Patman, D. Tex., one-time tenant farmer, conferred with Chairman Marvin Jones, D. Tex., of the important house agriculture committee as he prepared to introduce a bill embodying the price-fixing plan.

Jones promised that his committee would study the Patman proposal. He said it would require an estimated $1,000,000,000 annually to carry on an income guarantee program.

Patman would establish limited price-fixing on basic commodities such as 20-cent cotton, $1.50 wheat and $1 corn. Under those levels the government would guarantee each farmer a minimum income of $1,000 a year and would make up the difference between the set price and what the farmer gets for his crop.

"This is the cheapest way to attack the entire farm problem," Patman said. "In the past, we have said you cannot produce so much, and we cannot guarantee you any price. We cannot help you. Now we do the utilities, the railroads and industry."

WINTERS TO PAY $50 ON CHARGE OF DRUNKEN DRIVING

Oble Winters, Jackson township, was fined $100 and costs, $50 suspended, Monday night by Mayor W. J. Graham for driving when intoxicated on W. High street early Sunday. Mr. Winters gave bond to pay his account.

Walter Lee Colvin, 37, who resides in the southeast of the city, was fined $50 and costs on a drunk and disorderly charge and committed to the county jail. Mayor Graham said Colvin had received a suspended fine last year with the understanding he leave Circleville. He failed to comply with the order.

Boy Scout News

Boy Scouts of Troop 158 will be excused from school Friday to perform various tasks in Circleville business houses to earn money to help finance the cabin being constructed south of the city. Thirty-one of the youths will work up-town while 10 of the older boys will go with Scoutmaster Jack Landrum to work on the cabin.

Those who will work on the cabin are Ed Hill, Tye Davis, Bill Heffner, Pat Turner, James Denman, Clark Martin, Tom Harden, Hulse Hays Jr., Junior Imler and James Callahan.

The troop had its regular meeting Monday evening. Dues were collected and inspection held. Five new members, Junior Imler, John Goodchild, Frank Webbe, Jack Imler and Russell Streets, were taken in, making a total membership of 40 boys.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Sliding Doors for Cabinets

Sliding doors on kitchen or pantry cabinets are nice, as they do not project when opened, says the government's Federal Housing Administration bulletin. However, unless they are properly mounted they are apt to stick and cause a good deal of annoyance. They can be hung on ball-bearing hardware, which makes them very easy to operate. It is better to hang them in groups of three, so that more than half the total opening can be exposed at one time. It is difficult to get large platters through a narrow opening.

BOLAND TO STAR ON BERNIE HOUR TUESDAY AT 9

Jimmy Cagney, Sidney Skolsky and Mary Garden Booked

Mary Boland, veteran screen comedienne, will try to overcome her dislike for cigars for just one night on Tuesday, February 23.

And for a good reason! That's the night she is scheduled to appear as guest star with Ben Bernie and all his lads—and it is well known that the Old Maestro hasn't felt well dressed for years without a cigar in his mouth. "No Smoking" signs mean nothing to Bernie, even in broadcasting studios.

Still to be solved by Miss Boland is the problem of leaving Charlie Ruggles in some safe place, like a chin shop, while she heckles Bernie.

STARS WITH CROSBY

Two wise guys and a famous lady of the opera are Bing Crosby's guest stars in the Music Hall next Thursday, February 25. They are Jimmy Cagney, of the movies; Sidney Skolsky, Hollywood columnist; and Mary Garden, one of the best known opera singers of all time.

With Bing and Bob Burns on the giving end, a ribbing free-for-all between the Music Hall troubadour, the pride of the Ozarks, the screen's tough guy, and the sharp wit of the columnist is due for the broadcast over the NBC red network at 10 p. m. (EST).

Mary Garden sang her way to the top in opera and has always been one of the most interesting personalities the musical end of show business has produced. She has a host of interesting anecdotes and joins Bing on the air for one of his human interest interviews. Music by Jimmy Dorsey's swingsters and some of Bob Burns' own reminiscences complete the proceedings.

HERSHOLT AND BERGEN

Jean Hersholt takes time out during a vacation trip to New York to play a dramatic role on Rudy Vallee's Variety Hour next Thursday, February 25. For years he played featured roles in the movies, then jumped to star ranking overnight in his characterization of the doctor in the quintuplet pictures.

In this broadcast over the NBC red network at 8 p. m. (EST) he plays the lead in a radio sketch. Edgar Bergen and his partner, Charlie McCarthy, radio's only wooden star, return with more of their "double talk."

ELECTRIC EYE STANDS GUARD AT FREE PORT

New York First To Be Operated Without Physical Barrier

LANDING BANNED NOW

Beam Uninterrupted As It Rises, Falls With Tide

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—(UP)—Shining day and night, casting its piercing ray through fog and across 2,700 feet of water an ever-alert sentinel guards the entrance to the new Free Port at Stapleton, Staten Island, N. Y.

This sentinel, warning of any object no matter how large or small that breaks its intangible barrier, is the "electric eye" that protects the first and only free port of modern times in the United States. At present the port is closed to permit installation of a sprinkler system. The work is expected to be completed by April 1.

A free port is a restricted foreign trade zone where foreign goods may be repacked, graded, stored, mixed with other foreign or domestic goods, assembled and trans-shipped without going through customs. Regular import duties are paid if and when the goods ultimately are imported into the country.

Four Ports Proposed

About 40 free ports have been set up in various parts of the world. The Staten Island zone, the only such port in this country, possibly is the predecessor or four free ports in the United States. Two would be located on the Atlantic Coast, according to plans revealed a year ago by representatives of the administration, one on the Gulf Coast and one on the Pacific Coast.

The most novel feature of the New York Free Port is the "electric eye" which went into operation as soon as the zone was opened Feb. 1. Its use for such a purpose marks the first time that an actual physical barrier has not been used in free ports. All other free ports throughout the world use barriers which are opened or closed to admit vessels to enter or leave the restricted sections.

The "electric eye" is constructed so that a thousand-watt light shines out of a black, trunklike box which rises and falls with the tides. This light sends its rays from the north boundary of the free zone to the photo-electric cell at the other end. While nothing interrupts the beam, all is quiet but the instant a vessel enters the zone an alarm is sounded. At night, the light sends a white line across the water. It shines so brightly that it is possible to read a newspaper by its light a half-mile away.

Four Piers in Zone

Customs men, paid by New York City, keep a 24-hour watch at the port. Its physical makeup includes four piers, owned by the city, 2 acres of land on which warehouses and other buildings will be constructed, and a 12-foot steel fence around the restricted zone. Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, one of the original sponsors of the port, estimated that its operation will yield about $150,000 annually.

A movement to establish free ports in the United States first started a generation ago. The Staten Island piers, under use in the free port there, were constructed at the close of the World War but have not been used regularly due to the collapse of the shipping boom in the United States.

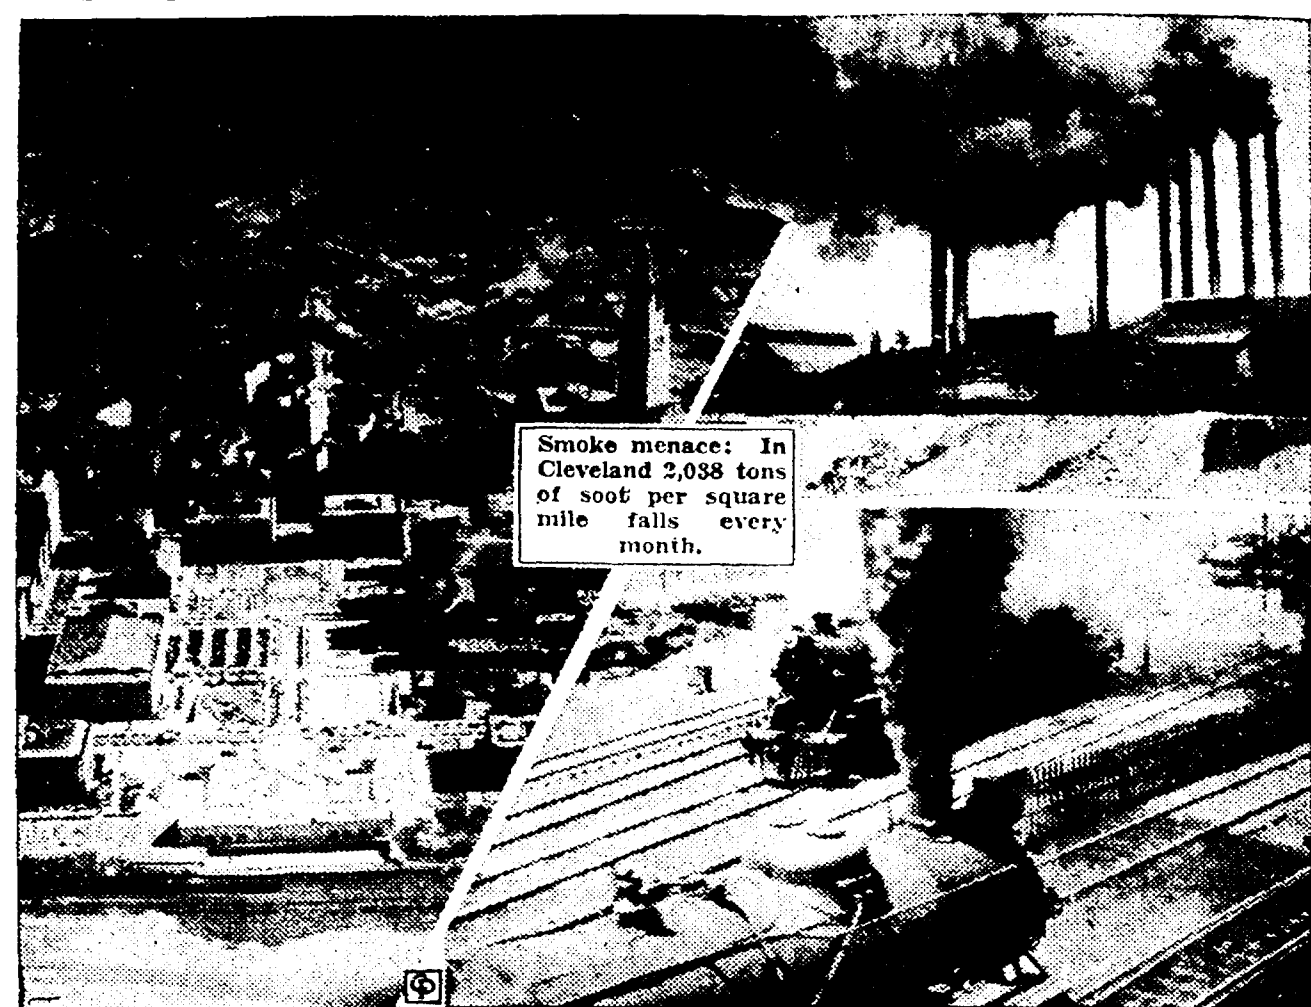

The enabling legislation which made the Free Port of New York possible was the Celler bill, which President Roosevelt signed on June 18, 1934. This act created a Free Trade Zones Board, consisting of the Secretaries of Commerce, War and the Treasury.

Aid to South America

It was expected that a large part of the New York Free Port's business would come from cargoes imported from South America and re-exported to Europe. Among products that probably will be handled, minerals, chemicals, hair products, leather, copra, sugar, rubber, and petroleum products.

The principal free ports in Europe now are Copenhagen, Danzig and Hamburg. The free port of

Here's What Smoke Costs You!

Smoke menace: In Cleveland 2,038 tons of soot per square mile falls every month.

CINCINNATI, — "You'n hide de fire, but w'at you gw'ine do wid de smoke?"

This Joel Chandler Harris proverb strikes a note today, "w'at you gw'ine do wid de smoke?"

"Yes?" you inquire. "But is smoke really a problem today? Isn't it just a discomfort?"

Smoke really is a problem, and it's more than a discomfort. Health officials and scientists are constantly trying to make you smoke conscious, that is, conscious that smoke is a demon, menacing your health, destroying your property, robbing your pocketbook, soiling your complexions, clouding your windows, dirtying your clothes.

Smoke Bill Is Huge

The tremendous cost of smoke in the United States was disclosed recently when L. B. Denning, president of the American Gas Association, declared that the yearly smoke bill is $500,000,000. Of this, $140,000,000 is the cost of spoiled merchandise and of cleaning buildings. Smoke expense means $4 a year for every man, woman and Copenhagen was opened in 1894 and has been extended from time to time until at present it includes 117 acres of land territory and 82 acres of water. The owning company undertakes the warehousing, storing and transport of goods within the limits of the port at rates set by the Danish government.

Other free ports throughout the world are at Bremen, Bremerhaven, Brake, Cuxhaven, Geestemünde, Emden and Stettin in Germany; Stockholm, Gothenburg and Malmö in Sweden; Hong Kong, Singapore, Penang and Macao.

Origin in Middle Ages

The practice of creating free ports originated in the middle ages when certain cities granted restrictions from customary tariffs to certain towns to prevent collapse of foreign commerce. Leghorn, Italy, became a free port in 1547 for this reason and other Italian cities were granted similar privileges. Cities in the Hanseatic League of northern Europe had let up such a system at an early date and consequently they became the trading centers of the north. Privileges gradually were withdrawn from such cities, however, as other ports complained of the unfair advantages possessed by free ports and nations regretted the lost customs revenue.

In modern times there has been a revival of the free port system due to the increased emphasis on tariff barriers and the great growth of international trade with its consequent problems of import and export.

child. Other per capita figures have placed smoke cost at $20.

Frank A. Chambers, smoke inspector of Chicago and secretary-treasurer of the Smoke Prevention Association of America, has said: "The people of the United States waste or destroy $10,000,000 worth of natural resources annually, and each citizen, no matter what his income, pays his full share of this unnecessary waste." He was referring to poor combustion.

Evidence of this waste through smoke can be shown in the amount of solids deposited. The 1935-36 report of the Smoke Abatement League of Hamilton county, Ohio, shows that in Cincinnati a monthly average of 38.2 tons of soot fell per square mile, a monthly average of 18.8 tons of combustible deposits fell per square mile and a monthly average of 19.4 tons of ash fell per square mile.

A report from Cleveland several years ago showed that 2,038 tons of soot fell there per month per square mile. The cleanest residential area showed a deposit of 83 tons per year.

"How about smoke impairing health?" you ask.

Warning of the danger of smoke, H. B. Mellor of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research in Pittsburgh says: "When it is remembered that the average adult breathes about 30 cubic inches of air each inhalation—equivalent to approximately 37½ pounds per day, or about seven times the weight of food and water consumed it does not seem an exaggeration to say that more persons are devitalized, disabled and poisoned by impurities contained in smoke-polluted air than by noxious ingredients in food and water."

Smoke-cursed air naturally affects air passages and the lungs. Disease germs steal rides on smoke particles and travel to the respiratory system where colds, laryngitis and bronchitis occur. Proof of this was given several years ago by Dr. William C. White, pathologist, who compared the number of nose and throat specialists in smoky Pittsburgh and less-polluted Baltimore.

For Pittsburgh, 41 for a population of 580,000.

For Baltimore, 40 for a population of 730,000.

Destroys Much

Most subtle, less obvious is the destructive aspect of smoke. The recent depression has encouraged the use of cheap bituminous coal. This fuel contains sometimes as much as 5 per cent sulphur. This sulphur becomes sulphur dioxide gas in the furnace, unites with moisture in the air and attacks buildings, metals, fabrics. A chemist's report shows that one ton of bituminous coal may give off the equivalent of enough destructive sulphuric acid to fill a dozen automobile storage batteries. And in a town of 10,000, where bituminous coal is burned, enough acid is produced in one winter to fill 40 tank cars. Small wonder that buildings crumble, metals corrode, fabrics rot!

"What is being done about this menace?" And your question is logical.

Fighting Smoke

In a recently conducted survey of United States and Canada, 75 cities of 3,000 or more population have started smoke abatement campaigns. Encouraged by the Smoke Abatement League, which publishes yearly reports, Cincinnati leads in smoke abatement activity.

A smoke abatement ordinance in Chicago has proved successful. In 1930, tests showed a dust and soot deposit average of 390 tons per square mile per month, while in 1935 this was reduced to 72 tons.

The report of the United States department of commerce on the nine years of smoke abatement in Salt Lake City gives an excellent view of municipal smoke abatement.

The following conclusions may be drawn regarding smoke abatement at Salt Lake City:

1. The smoke from large industrial and heating plants has been reduced at least 90 per cent.

2. This reduction was effected by co-operative methods in improving plants and instructing

U. S. TO UNVEIL A.E.F. CHAPELS IN CEMETERIES

Many Other Memorials To Be Dedicated During Summer

GEN. PERSHING IS HEAD

Short History Provided For Each Ground

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(UP)—Dedication of memorial chapels erected in each of the eight American cemeteries in Europe is planned for this summer by the Battle Monuments Commission.

A total of 30,900 American soldiers are buried in the Meuse-Argonne, Oise-Aisne, St. Mihiel, Aisne-Marne, Somme, Suresnes, Brookwood and Flanders Field cemeteries.

The commission, headed by Gen.

firemen, and through a system of rigid inspection and control.

3. An observation tower is very effective in a smoke abatement campaign.

4. Small heating plants, heretofore neglected in similar smoke abatement campaigns, can successfully be converted into smokeless types at small cost.

5. Every plant in the business and industrial section of the city is now in condition to operate within the smoke ordinance.

6. Railroad locomotives now contribute little to the smoke nuisance. Cinder fall, however, in the railroad district is still high, and its elimination is a problem.

7. With present equipment and the present smoke ordinance and organization, the smoke from all plants, except residences, can be kept low enough not to create a smoke cloud.

John J. Pershing, chief of the American Expeditionary forces in the World War, will complete plans soon for the dedication.

Field Movements Marked

Numerous other memorials marking movements of American soldiers in the war, have been placed by the commission, and will be dedicated.

Two bronze memorial tablets, one at Chaumont, France, and the other at Souilly, France, mark the headquarters of the American Expeditionary forces and the American First Army, respectively, during the war.

Other memorials have been erected at Montfaucon, Montsec, near Chateau-Thierry, Brest Tourn, near Bellicourt, on Blanc Mont Ridge (in the Champagne region) and Cantigny in France; Audenarde and near Ypres, in Belgium; and Gibraltar, Gibraltar.

Road Signs Set Up

Improved landscape designs have been installed in each of the American cemeteries, and a limited number of road signs showing directions to American cemeteries and memorials have been erected. To memorialize the valor of American soldiers, the commission is preparing a survey concerning operations of combat divisions during the World War.

The commission also has in preparation a short history and

description of each American cemetery in Europe.

WALLACE ASKS FARMERS' AID FOR F.D.'S ACT

"Judicial Changes Needed to Aid Agriculture," Official Declares

O'NEAL FAVORS REVISION

Secretary May Tour Nation to Explain Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace called on farmers today to support President Roosevelt's Supreme Court reorganization proposal.

"I think that the farmers of the country know that judicial changes are necessary if we are to deal with agriculture as a national problem," Wallace said.

Wallace has called more than 100 farm leaders from every section of the country to Washington during the last two weeks for conferences in which the court proposal was discussed. Yesterday he led a group of 12 regional farm leaders to the White House for an hour and a half conference with President Roosevelt. "Roosevelt is for us and we're for him," Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Farm Bureau Federation said.

Support Sought
Wallace's strategy, however, appears intended to initiate support for the court program from the farmers themselves, rather than by commitment of their organization leaders.

O'Neal, who usually works closely with Wallace, said he has no mandate from federation members as yet either to support or oppose the president's court program. He declined to express a personal opinion.

"I'm waiting to hear from the members of the federation before I attempt to speak for them," O'Neal said. He said they are being "advised of the situation."

The leaders of only two organizations have taken a definite stand. L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, opposed the president's proposal. L. C. Trousdale, Houston, Tex., said the American Rice Growers Association is 100 per cent for the proposal.

Wallace said he has reports from the farm states indicating that farmers virtually are unanimous for court reorganization. He added, however, that "the farmers aren't saying much one way or the other yet."

"Farmers usually take plenty of time to make up their mind," Wallace said. "They never will agree with some who refuse to view agriculture as a national problem. I have no doubt where their sympathies lie in this fight."

Speaking Tour Planned
Wallace tentatively plans a speaking tour of the middlewest to "give the farmers a first-hand explanation of the new farm program," department of agriculture officials said. He has said that if he does go he will speak vigorously in support of Supreme Court reorganization.

Mr. Thomas was a representative of the California and Hawaii Sugar Refining, Ltd., of San Francisco.

The body was taken to Cincinnati Tuesday morning for funeral services.

Mr. Thomas is survived by his widow, Mary; his father, William W. Thomas, Manchester; two sisters, Mrs. Fred Lowe, Covington, Ky., and Mrs. Clarence Hoolzworth, Dayton, Ky.

DARBY-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

Feb. 12, Darby gathered its forces together and scrambled to New Holland to wind up their basketball schedule for the year. The girls were "jittery" at the start of the game but mastered their fears and got in there for all they were worth and really fought a battle. The score at the half showed Darby in the lead by a small margin of 7-6. The last half showed the real value of winning. Darby was in there to win with all they had. The final score a deadlock at 17-17. All this gave Darby seven wins against three defeats, placing them in standing for selection to play in the tournament.

The boys' game proved also to be a hair-raiser. The score showed Darby to be ahead by an 8-3 lead at the half. Darby's defense became loose and allowed the score to go to 9-5 scramble. Still unable to connect with the old bucket, New Holland came on. In the last few minutes of play the huskies from New Holland placed the deciding bucket in the old ring. A foul shot by Cox proved not enough so Darby goes defeated by a score of 14-13, a tough game to lose. It was a fight to the finish.

Both of Darby's teams will play Ashville. The girls will play Friday night Feb. 19. The boys' game is Saturday night Feb. 20.

Darby's orchestra will play at the tournament Thursday, Feb. 25 at the C.A.C. Gym.

Hundred Attend Ashville Parent-Teacher Meeting

Fourth Grade Parents Win Attendance Prize Again Monday Evening

By S. D. FRIDLEY

The Ashville-Harrison P.-T. A. held its February meeting Monday evening at the school building with over 100 in attendance. The fourth grade pupils, Miss Kaiserman, teacher, put on a very fine George Washington program. The talk given by the Rev. Mr. Peters, a native born Englishman, made the whole program a rather unique one. While his talk was mostly of contrasts between the customs of his native country and his adopted one he also gave his listeners some new facts about our first president.

The fourth grade parents again won the attendance banner as they have been doing all winter and it is going to be interesting to see if any other grade can take it away from them during the next two months.

CROOKED PATHS

A BEATEN path across a hillside or through a wood rarely runs straight. It turns aside for obstacles, makes concessions to uneven ground and the rise and fall of the slope or turns aside for the vantage or view of a better vision of the destination. Yet it was first made by the feet of men who were chiefly concerned to get through directly and quickly.

Most of the highways of life run likewise crooked, curving and twisting constantly from the straight path of intention. Little things block the trail, and it is easier to avoid them than to remove or surmount them. Tempting paths of easy going are offered on either side. Sometimes the straight trail is lost beyond recovery; often it is won again only after much time wasted in wandering.

Most of us start out in confidence and determination toward a chosen goal. We hold fast to our course so long as good intention is fresh; we lose it when the distractions of the way steal our eyes from the goal ahead. This is the most tragic wastage of the world, whereby high hopes go for nothing and human strength and talent are lost to the service of mankind. Such waste is avoided by looking for guidance both backward and forward—back to the zeal of the beginning and forward to the hope of the end.

POWER OF SUGGESTION

THIS has been characterized as the age of tolerance. Tolerance implies an open mind, the absence of blind bigotry, possession of the power to reason, and a willingness to hear both sides to every question before forming one's own conclusions. It follows, therefore, that modern society, being more tolerant of the opinions and manners of others, should be more open to suggestion. It is probably a fact that the great mass of Americans was never before more subject to suggestion.

Everybody has heard of the power of suggestion and everybody has seen it demonstrated through the medium of political reform, advertising and slang, catchphrases. A spacious slogan can win acclaim for a creed or cause previously universally rejected and obviously fallacious. Than the catch phrase there is no more effective camouflage for the spurious.

Suggestion plays a most important part in business. Advertising, show windows and show cases owe their origin and usefulness to the power of suggestion. Contrary to a popular impression, the merchant advertises and displays his wares to create a desire for possession among those who see them and it is through suggestion that the desire is created.

It's so hard to find a man who likes to be reformed by a fellow no better than he is. Zealous workers in a cause are those who give their time to make you give your money.

World At A Glance

Is it not rather odd that congress' progressives, who have been enthusiastic New Dealers, regardless of their various party labels, by no means are friendly, generally speaking, to President Roosevelt's plan to liberalize the federal courts, especially the supreme tribunal?

Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin is an exception. There are a few ultra-liberals among representatives who are for the Roosevelt program, too.

But it isn't the rule. Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, who was radical enough to have campaigned as running mate of the present Senator La Follette's father on an independent presidential ticket in 1924 and still is one of Capitol Hill's most advanced political thinkers, is downright vicious in denunciation of the Rooseveltian suggestion. Though not so bitter as Wheeler, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska also is in opposition.

MILITANTLY HOSTILE
In short, old-time congressional liberals, on an average, seem rather more militantly hostile than any other group to the presidential scheme. I know senators and representa-

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

IRRECONCILABLES GANGED UP

WASHINGTON — Out of the Battle of the Supreme Court have emerged two small Senatorial armies, diametrically opposite, but both contributing to the sabotage of Roosevelt's reform of the judiciary.

One is the same little band of irreconcilables which fought Woodrow Wilson on the League of Nations. It is highly organized, hard-boiled, effective. The others are the Senate liberals—unorganized, heterogeneous, and in a state of pathetic dither.

Both are causing a lot of worry at the White House.

Here is the line-up of the old League of Nations warriors who have now turned their vitriol on Roosevelt:

Senators Borah and Hiram Johnson — expected to carry the brunt of the floor fighting when the President's Court proposals reach the debating stage.

Cabot Lodge—youthful grandson of Henry Cabot Lodge, who fought Wilson so bitterly. Borah and Johnson hover paternally near young Cabot.

Alice Longworth—always bitter against Cousin Franklin, and now throwing the force of her column and radio broadcasts against his Court plan.

Bill Hard—chief journalistic lance of the League fight, is now back in Washington on the Republican National Committee payroll.

Behind the scenes also are George Moses, ex-Senator from New Hampshire, and a League bitter-ender, together with vehemently critical "Little Artie" Robinson, ex-Senator from Indiana, now practicing law in Washington.

Most of these are close friends and see each other frequently. Mrs. Longworth flits in and out of the Senate Gallery and lunch-room like an animated shuttlecock, and is one of the inspirations of Frank Kent's bitter comment. Young Lodge lives across the street from her, and Bill Hard is a frequent visitor at her house.

If the President's Court proposals are defeated, it will be due in no small part to Cousin Alice.

NOTE: Mrs. Longworth seldom misses a White House reception, on one occasion had friends wangle her an invitation to a Roosevelt family gathering from which she had been omitted. Since then the President and Mrs. Roosevelt have made it a point to invite her to all receptions.

SABOTAGING LIBERALS

The other group—the Senate Liberals, usually favorable to Roosevelt — have drawn caustic, scathing comment from their liberal friends throughout the Administration.

In fact, the bitterness between the Liberals who go along with the President and those who don't is almost as intense as their bitterness for the Liberty League—and much more amusing.

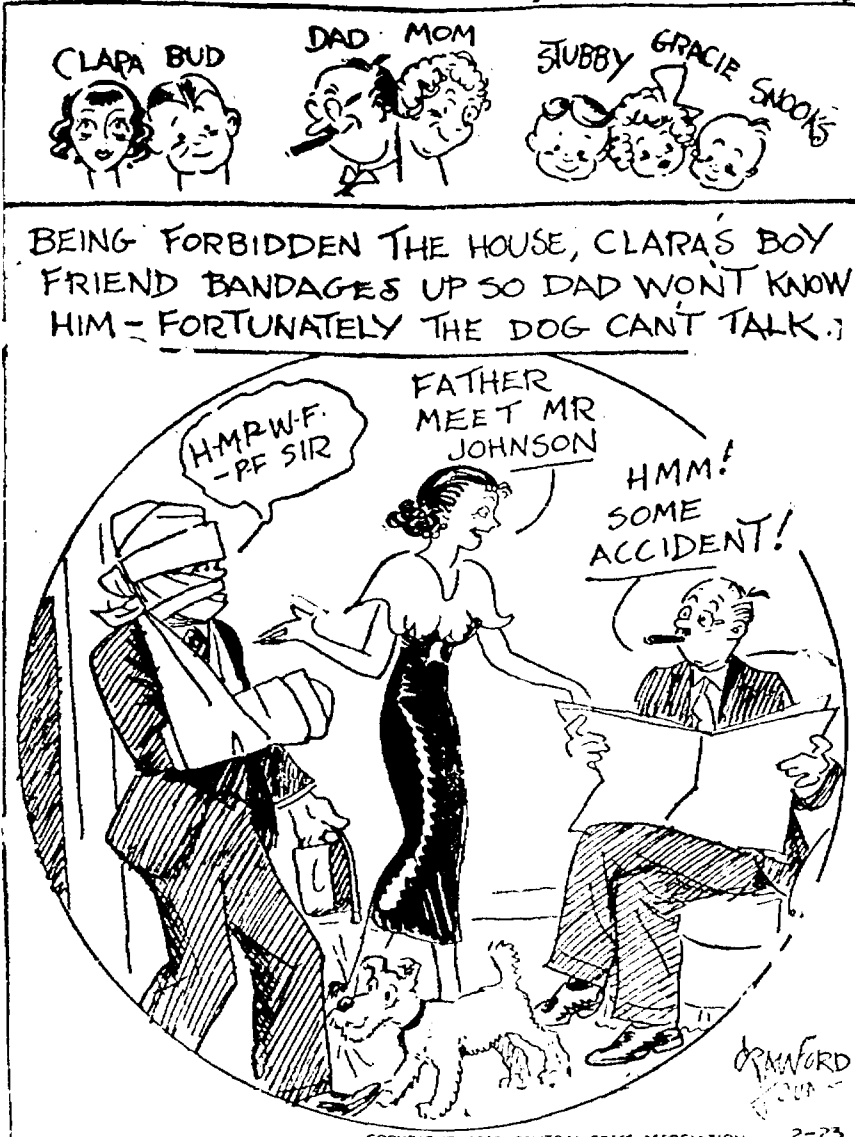

"Traitor" and "ingrate" are among the mildest epithets the pro-Rooseveltians hurl at the liberal opposition.

"Why did you go along with him in November?" "Why didn't you form your own third party?" "Why did you cling so tenaciously to the Roosevelt bandwagon?" are just a few of the queries hurled at Senators Bone, Clark, Norris and Wheeler.

Some Questions Nurses Must Answer of Eyes

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE FOLLOWING questions are those which the nurse or social worker is supposed to be able to answer about the eyes:

Dr. Clending

I. What can a nurse do to prevent birth infections of the eyes?
She must help in educating each expectant mother to insist on the use of a prophylactic in the eyes of her baby at the time of birth, in order to guard against all infections. One per cent silver nitrate is the prophylactic usually used.

II. What is meant by testing of visual acuity?
The testing of visual acuity is a means of determining acuteness of central vision in each eye. It is the most common method of detecting deviations from normal. By using this test it is possible to find many persons of all age groups who are in need of examination by an oculist. There are some eye conditions which do not affect central vision. The nurse can observe evidences suggesting visual difficulty, such as abnormal posture of head or body during the test, frowning, an obvious effort to see the chart during the test, the eyes filling with tears.

III. When should the first test of visual acuity be given?
A vision test should be part of the health examination of every preschool child.

Charts for performing this test can be obtained from the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, 50 West Fifth street, New York, N. Y.

Most Common Difficulties

IV. What are the most common eye difficulties found among children?

1. Errors or refraction of various degrees and seriousness.
2. Failure of the two eyes to work together, arising from a variety of causes and generally referred to as strabismus or squint.
3. Congenital and hereditary eye defects.
4. Why do the two eyes sometimes fail to work together?
1. A difference in the state of reaction of each eye.
2. There may be imperfect vision in one eye at birth.
3. There may be a deviation from normal in the muscles which control the movements of the eye.
4. The fusion faculty may be lacking or fail to develop perfectly.
5. Eye disease or injury may be responsible for the failure of the two eyes to work together.
VI. Does reading in bed harm the eyes?
If the proper posture is maintained, adequate light is supplied free from glare, and attention is given to the selection of the size of the type and the character of the paper upon which the printing is done, reading in bed is not harmful to the eyes. Reading in bed during an illness should not be encouraged, even with the physical arrangements mentioned above, except with the consent of the physician. After a serious illness special attention should be directed to the protection and care of the eyes. During convalescence the delicate structures of the eyes may be damaged through misuse and overwork.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clending can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, in care of this paper. CHAPTER 29

IT IS NOT difficult to analyze the qualities in women that attract men when you know women.

There is the pretty, popular girl who creates the atmosphere of good times wherever she goes. There is the girl who plays up her femininity in her soft voice, her rapt attention, her pretty, ruffy clothes. And there is the girl who has the indescribable quality in her of making men want to live up to what she expects of them. That quality is recognizable where it exists; it has no name.

The women who belong to the first two groups are obvious. Janet belonged to neither of these but to the last group. From the time when she was a tiny 18-year-old with braids demurely slipping down her back, she had attracted the type of boy and man who looked beyond the obvious prettiness in women and wanted to cultivate the womanliness they knew she had to offer.

Janet had had beaux without number but she was never the kind of girl to whom men sent orchids. She was the girl who was invited to the skating carnival, the barn dance and for Saturday picnics. Later, when she had left Chester and gone to New York to earn her living, there were the usual number of men who invited her to the theater, to dine with them, to go to concerts. The night club habits were not attracted to her.

There were, of course, the men who made love to her and, finding themselves rebuffed, dropped away. But for the most part, she kept her men friends. They told her their troubles, of their love affairs and their ambitions and time and again through life they were to remember her.

Janet forgot them all. She had one man and she had waited for that one man. Joel Paynter was all she ever wanted. She had had no need for men friends. She was essentially womanly. She needed a man.

There was more than one man in Hollywood who regarded her as his friend but—as in other things—Janet gave more than she received. Perhaps because she was not seeking more than she had.

Vernon Chester was her friend. The famous director was frequently a guest at the white house in the hills. He came to Janet to talk over his production problems, to discuss the personalities in the film, and to listen quietly for the revealing things that Janet said to him about her own life. Things that revealed more than she knew.

If he hadn't had such high regard for her quiet assurance, her balanced judgment, and faith in her as a personality, he would often have been sorry for her. Because he was a man, he didn't know that the things in Joel he felt were lacking, were unimportant to Janet. Only a woman who has been in love knows that there is only one thing that matters to the woman in love. Janet had it; her love didn't waver and she had Joel.

Vernon Chester wasn't the only man who liked to drop in at Janet's home at dusk, to sink in the tranquility of the atmosphere of repose that surrounded her. There were others who liked to watch her slender hands among her silver tea things, to sink into the soft chairs in the library where she received in the autumn afternoons, and there to find a restful change from the hectic routine of their days.

Janet didn't talk of pictures then unless her guests wanted to. Frequently she picked up her knitting or a bit of sewing. And often she wondered why it was that so many of Joel's friends came to her and sat for hours with her.

It bored Joel to sit for very long and he implored Janet to put away her knitting. She always did.

None of the men could have told why they liked to go to her. They could have said that she was stimulating except that they didn't realize she was. Janet read the newspapers. When there was a historical picture in the making, she referred to her history book, which intrigued her; she had revealing things to say. No, they wouldn't have said that she was stimulating. They just said they "liked" her.

If anyone had said she had glamor, her friends would have protested as violently as though an uncomplicated thing had been said of her. Caroline Maynard would have resented it most.

When Dion Maynard brought his debutante bride back to the picture colony from New York, Caroline Maynard held herself aloof from her husband's friends. She made none until she met Janet Paynter. Caroline adored Janet.

She found in her a woman who thought and spoke the way she did and who had the manners of those to whom she was accustomed.

It was Janet who, wisely—and with no air of giving advice—opened Caroline's eyes to what was expected of her. It was Janet who pointed out to the actor's bride that she now shared her husband's life regardless of her own inclinations.

By her own example, her own sacrifices, she showed the other girl the way to a gracious acceptance of all things and so made her happier.

Caroline really enjoyed Hollywood but she patronized it. She decided that she was going to get all the fun out of it that she possibly could and wrote gay and witty notes home to her social registerite friends and told them it was a terrific thing circus.

The only person she really was fond of was Janet Paynter. The one person she wasn't thinking of when she wrote to her brother, Russell Bede, was Janet. She couldn't think of Janet as part of the circus.

She wrote to Russell: "Please come out here, Russ! It's time that you stopped making money and had a little fun. I want no letters reminding me that you have your fun playing squash at the Racquet club, sailing your boat and dancing attendance on post-debs."

"It's fantastic here but fantastic enough to amuse you. Every woman is glamorous, beautiful and a story book character! Every man is a screen hero and a celebrity! They'll adore you. They adore anyone with a million dollars. The gals will mob you. It isn't every day they have a first-hand chance at a 35-year-old bachelor with social position in spite of what you read in the newspapers. Besides, I'm lonesome for you."

"Come on out and be entertained! I'll give gargantuan parties for you and it will be the first time in years you'll meet someone besides the New York, Southampton and Virginia crowd. And I'll save you a blonde with the longest eyelashes in the world."

Russell Bede laughed when he read his sister's letter. He thought that it was true. He hadn't been to a party in years where he'd met anyone outside of the crowd he had grown up with. But then he'd had little time for extra-social activities.

He was a sophomore in college when his father died. Immediately he had taken over the merchandising house in which the Bede fortune had been made. Now, 14 years later, he had weathered the depression and rebuilt the fortune.

Russell Bede wasn't handsome. He was, and looked, a successful young business man. His hair was graying at the temples and in spite of his squash, his waistline was a little thicker. Nevertheless he was a matrimonial "catch."

He thought he was slipping into a life long bachelorhood and Caroline's reference to "a blonde with the longest eyelashes in the world" amused him. He had long been wary of women for other reasons than that he did not understand them.

Impulsively he sent a wire to Caroline saying that he was flying to the coast and for her to go ahead with her gargantuan party. He left orders with his secretaries and said that he would return in a fortnight.

If he had known how that trip was to affect his life, he would have canceled his wire.

A STEIN SONG

From "Spring"

Give a rouse, then, in the Maytime
Turn night-time into daytime
with the sunlight of good cheer!
For it's always fair weather
When good fellows get together.

With a stein on the table and a
good song ringing clear.

When the wind comes up from Cuba,

And the birds are on the wing,
And our hearts are patting juba
To the banjo of the spring.

Then it's no wonder whether
The boys will get together
With a stein on the table and a
cheer for everything.

For we're all frank-and-twenty
When the spring is in the air;
And we've faith and hope a-plenty,
And we've life and love to spare;
And it's birds of a feather
When we all get together,
When a stein on the table and
a heart without a care.

For we know the world is glorious,
And the goal a golden thing,
And that God is not censorious
When his children have their
fling;

And life slips its tether
When the boys get together.
With a stein on the table in the fellowship of spring.

World, you are beautifully dressed.

You friendly Earth, how far do

With the wheat-fields that nod and
the rivers that flow,

With cities and gardens, and cliffs

And people upon you for thou-

Ah! you are so great, and I am so

I tremble to think of you, World,

And yet, when I said my prayers

A whisper inside me seemed to say,

"You are more than the Earth,
though you are such a dot:
You can love and think, and the Earth cannot!"

Miscellaneous Shower

Complimenting Mrs. Gordon Dunkel (Betty Scotchorn), of New Holland, Misses Anne and Elizabeth Reber entertained at a miscellaneous shower at their home in Walnut township, Saturday afternoon.

A rainbow formed of pastel shades of ribbon was in one corner of the living room, and Mrs. Dunkel found the many beautiful gifts in the "pot of gold" at the end of the rainbow by unwinding the ribbon.

During a musical interval, Miss Anna Schleyer offered two piano solos, and Mrs. Harold Hines sang two numbers, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Reber.

In a contest which followed, Mrs. Benjamin Witmeyer received the prize.

A buffet lunch was served late in the afternoon. The table carried out the rainbow theme in decoration, var-colored spring flowers adding a pleasing note in the center.

Guests from a distance were Mrs. Richard Nickerson, of Fostoria, Mrs. Witmeyer, of Chillicothe, Miss Schleyer, Mrs. Elmer Howard and daughter Emily, Mrs. Bernard Young and Miss Mary Ruth Tolbert, of Circleville.

PITTSBURGH PRESS SAYS DR. SUTHERLAND TO RESIGN COACHING POSITION

FEUD WITH DON HARRISON CITED AS ACT'S CAUSE

Noted Mentor Embarks On Speaking Tour to Two Eastern Cities

STATEMENT IS QUOTED

Youths to be Considered in Jock's Decision

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23 (UP)—Dr. Jock Sutherland will present his resignation as head football coach at University of Pittsburgh Thursday as a result of his "feuding" with Director of Athletics W. Don Harrison, the Pittsburgh Press said today in an exclusive story.

The famous coach has decided on this action rather than embroil the university "in a controversy which is neither dignified nor to the best interests of the university," the Press said.

Whether the resignation would be accepted, but indicated Chancellor John G. Bowman may take some action in the controversy should students and alumni give a rousing demonstration.

Coach Sutherland left here last night for Endicott and Buffalo, N. Y., on a speaking tour; the Press quoted him as saying:

"I will not step aside of my own volition. I couldn't do that after what happened today when nearly every boy I have coached the last year came to me and asked if it were true that I was leaving the university."

Boys Considered

"After all," Dr. Sutherland said, "these boys are the ones I can't leave. They have fought for Pitt. They are the finest squad of youngsters I have ever been in contact with, and when it comes down to the final analysis, they—not me or anyone else—are the ones to be considered."

"Dr. Sutherland has under advisement an offer which will make him double the $10,000 he receives for coaching at his alma mater," the Press says.

The Sutherland-Harrison feud broke out in Los Angeles last New Year's day after Pitt defeated the Washington Huskies. Harrison allegedly threatened to "break" Sutherland as a coach because Sutherland requested "spending money" for the players who were to be entertained that night.

Two Don't Speak

The two haven't spoken since. The controversy is expected to come up for consideration before the alumni at their meeting tomorrow in connection with Pitt's 150th anniversary.

Harrison denied the entire story of the "feud" with Sutherland. He said the differences between him and Sutherland are "grossly exaggerated."

Coach Sutherland, after 13 years as Pitt's head coach in which his teams lost only 13 games, is well liked on the campus and some action may be taken by students today following their return from the holiday.

The nervous tension of recent weeks has taken ten pounds from Mrs. Simpson. It is to be hoped for the sake of the Duke of Windsor, however, that the aura of allure still clings to the remaining poundage.

Wolverines Defeat Purdue to Make Late Bid For Big Ten Crown

ILLINOIS LEADING AGAIN

Jean Smith Scores 21 Points Against Ohio State

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 (UP)—Illinois, Michigan and Minnesota raced a whisker apart toward the Big Ten basketball championship today with only one first division foe in the way of a triple tie for the title.

Ohio State, a contender until last night, threatened Michigan's strenuous bid which spurred into new prominence with a 31 to 16 victory over Purdue.

Illinois meets only Iowa and Northwestern on the road. Minnesota, unbeatable at home, plays Wisconsin and Northwestern at Northwestern at Minneapolis and the Maroons at Chicago. All these teams were buried deep in the second division.

The Illini, once more undisputed league-leaders, appeared to have the easiest path despite the fact Northwestern already defeated them once. They ended their home stand last night by whipping Wisconsin for the second time, 43 to 31.

Michigan ran away from Purdue. Minnesota dumped Iowa, 44 to 25, and Northwestern upset Ohio State, 44 to 29.

Purdue was tied in knots by the most effective defense set up in the Big Ten this season. The mighty Boiler-maker scoring machine which set a new mark against Illinois was throttled to eight points each period.

Meanwhile, the Wolverines worked their height advantage for all it was worth, feeding Johnny Gee, 6 foot, nine inch center, all the shots he could handle.

After the first period, which ended 8 to 8, Purdue failed to threaten once. Jewell Young added a mere five points to his league leading scoring total.

For a half, Minnesota's title hopes where in extreme danger against Iowa. The Hawkeyes clung within a point at 20 to 19 as the half ended, but the Gophers surged back with a puncture-proof defense and folded up Iowa with only six more points.

Illinois' eighth victory of the year was bound up in its first half assault. Leading 26 to 9 at the half, the Illini permitted Wisconsin to make it a contest, then stepped away quickly, 48 to 31.

Northwestern's sudden awakening against Ohio State was the personal triumph of Jean Smith, veteran center, who scored 21 points. The Buckeyes, fighting for their last shred of hope for the title, fell back, 20 to 9, at the end of the first period and never came back.

Terry was delayed because of influenza. Shortstop Dick Bartell signed his 1937 contract yesterday leaving only four Giants out of the fold.

OUTSIDER WINS SANTA ANITA'S $45,425 PURSE

SANTA ANITA PARK, ARCADIA, Cal., Feb. 23.—(UP)—Fairy Hill, the Foxcatcher farms three-year-old stablemate of Rosemont, was in Santa Anita's hall of fame today after blazing home a winner in the $50,000 derby yesterday.

Fairy Hill was overlooked in betting and went to the post a 14 to 1 choice. On the basis of the creditable showing in the derby, however, the chestnut gelding jumped into the front rank of contenders for the Kentucky derby in May, next big money event on the calendar for three-year-olds.

There was a possibility that Fairy Hill might be entered in the Saturday with Rosemont and Goldseekers, since he has been assigned a weight of only 102 pounds.

A crowd of 45,000 persons poured $1,177,674 into the pari-mutuel windows during the Washington's birthday program, and wagered $183,584 on the derby. Fairy Hill paid off handsomely for $30.80 on $2 win tickets, $20.60 to place and $13.20 to show, and took a purse of $45,425.

Favorites were left behind in the jostling dash of 21 thoroughbreds.

PEMBROKE, N. Y. (UP)—John N. DeMuth, Pembroke's 55-year-old "bee-man," has migrated south with his horde of bees again for the eighth consecutive winter. DeMuth and his son Jourdain, are in Lake County, Fla., enjoying the southern sun while their 300 colonies of bees busy themselves gathering nectar from blossoms. In the spring, the two men expect to travel home with at least 1,000 colonies of bees and several 60-gallon drums of honey, most of it orange honey, which DeMuth says is the "finest that can be made."

On form, Pickaway, Scioto, Ashville and New Holland should survive Thursday evening's quarter-final contests in the county tournament. They meet Muhlenberg, Salter Creek, Walnut and Perry townships respectively. Any of the four underdogs is likely to pull an upset. If the favored teams go through their games, Friday evening will provide one of the most interesting tournament sessions offered fans in a dozen years. Scioto and Pickaway would tangle and so would Ashville and New Holland. In the girls' fray, Friday, will be Darby and Scioto, both defeated in the first round.

Splendid Career Ends

Stanton Jones, one of the most sought officials in central Ohio, will referee the high school-Delaware game Wednesday evening. The contest will close one of the finest athletic careers Circleville has had in a long while. Don Henry will be playing his last game as a Tiger. Of course, he will participate in the central district tournament, but that will not be played in Circleville. Henry has taken part in athletics since he came to this city. His work has been outstanding. Always in condition, and setting a real example for other cagers and gridgers, Don Henry is the kind of athlete of which any school can be proud. He has been a mainstay in basketball and in football, and his place will be hard to fill.

What of Title Bout?

If Jim Braddock and Joe Louis fight in Chicago, who will win? Many are the fight fans who say Louis can take Braddock with ease; many others believe the champ can successfully defend his title. Don't get too steamed up over the contest, at least just yet, because Madison Square Garden is going to have something to say, especially since Braddock is already on a contract to defend his title against Schmeling there in June.

Big Ten in Turmoil

The Big Ten was tossed into a turmoil again Monday evening, this time by Michigan's ball team, which turned back Purdue with ease in a 31-16 game. Ohio State took one on the chin on Northwestern's court. Minnesota won again, and so did Illinois. The Indiana coach, who said the league would be mixed up from start to finish of the schedule, was about right.

EPITAPH HAILS BUCKING HORSE OF RODEO FAME

JOHNSTON, Colo. (UP)—Final tribute was paid to Midnight, the most famous horse ever to come out of a bucking chute at a rodeo, when a group of cowboys erected a marker over a lonely grave on the Colorado plains, inscribed with their own home-made epitaph. Cowhands on the McCarthy-Elliott ranch showed the dynamic little black horse during his career collaborated in writing the epitaph. It reads:

"Under this sod lies a great bucking horse. There never lived a cowboy he couldn't toss. His name was Midnight; his coat black as coal. If there is a horse-heaven, please God, rest his soul."

Midnight was the arch-enemy of the top "waddies" who rode the nation's rodeo circuit to earn their living "working broncs." He was ridden only once in 14 years in which he came bucking out of the chutes from one coast to the other. The time he failed to toss his rider was after he became old.

The epitaph and new headstone were decided upon by ranch hands during their talks on long evenings about the "buckingest horse of them all." They recalled that Midnight was a really great show horse without a trace of viciousness. He never trampled a rider after throwing him, but would nose his victim into the tanbark and trot back to the chutes.

non-stop in 36 hours with three drivers on the truck. "The reason? It's just this. While you are moving the wind blowing through the hives and the vibration of the truck keeps the bees quiet. As soon as you stop, they start jamming up against the screens, and if you left the truck standing for half an hour all the bees would be crushed to death."

Because the hives usually increase about three fold during a Florida season, DeMuth expects to make four of the 36-hour non-stop trips to bring home his bees next spring.

Women are fickle, according to Harpo Marx, the chap who spent nearly all of the mature years of his life chasing blondes and then married a brunette. Congress will be asked to pass a bill to prevent the re-election of a President. It has all the earmarks of a devious Republican plot.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

MANY BETS RESULTED

EACH SIDE had a game in when I dealt the following hand, sitting South, dealing each player except myself a seven-card suit. There was a large gallery and the hand proved to be so interesting that many bets were made on what might have happened, had the hand been played at spades, clubs or diamonds.

♠ A K Q 7 6 5 4
♥ 10 3
♣ 8 3

♠ A Q J 7
♥ 5 4 2
♦ 9 8 4

Bidding went: West, 1-Diamond; North, 1-Spade; East, 2-Hearts; South, 3-Clubs; West, 3-Diamonds; North, 3-Spades; East, 4-Hearts. I declined to double that last call, which I believed could be defeated, as I feared West then would bid 5-Diamonds and make it. Luckily my partner bid no more.

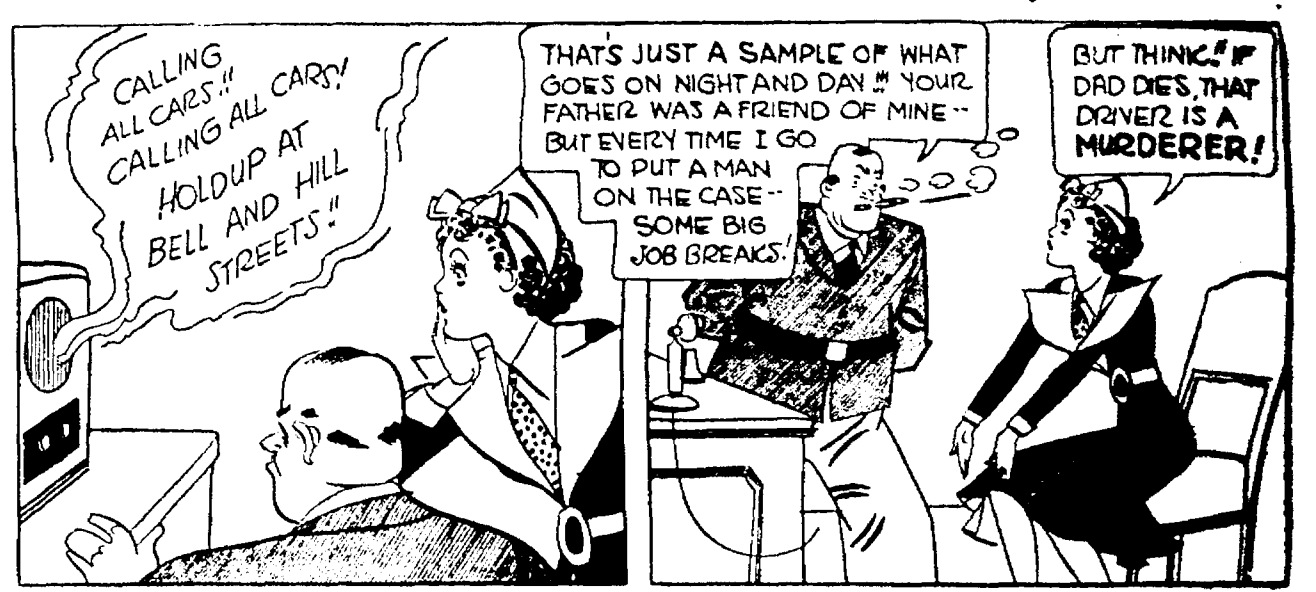

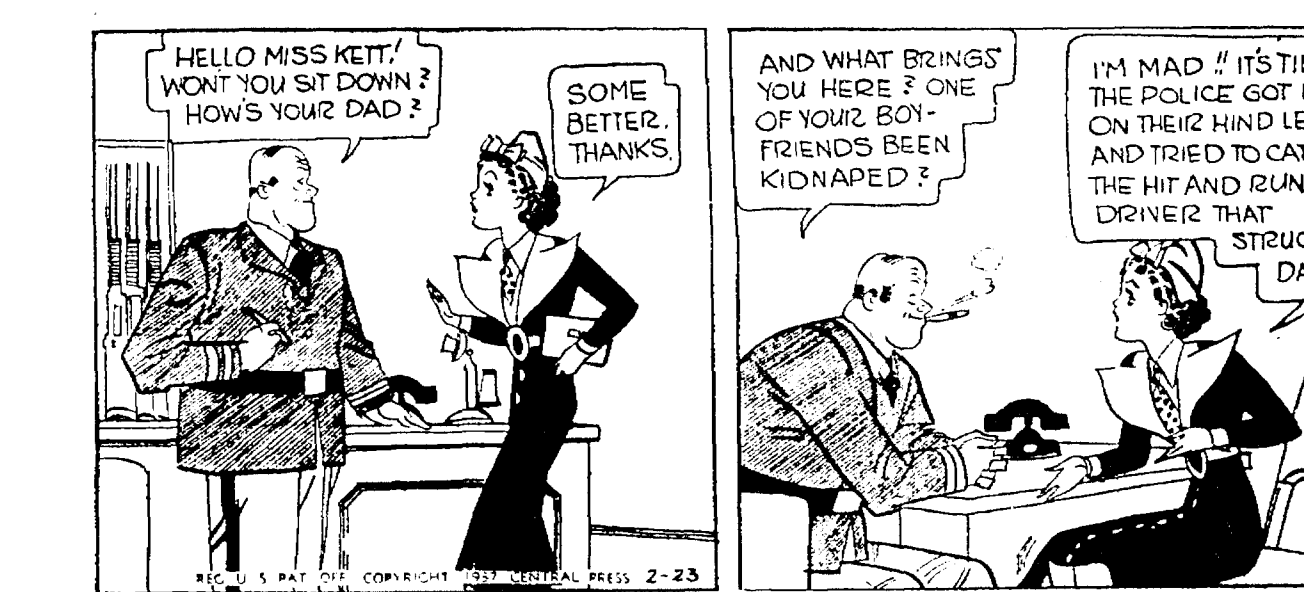

I led my lone diamond. Dummy's K won. Declarer knew that a singleton had been led, so he went up with his Ace of hearts, knowing that I held the K and sought a ruff. Then the Q of hearts was led. My K won. I led a spade. The K won. North led back his last diamond. I ruffed. My Ace of clubs won the fourth and setting trick.

The bets on what would have happened at clubs or spades were easily settled. At clubs, West would have led his lone heart, resulting in a loss of one heart trick to the Ace. A return of the Q, which South had to cover with the K and have ruffed, or else the Q would win and West would ruff a third round of hearts, by playing his 9 of clubs. At best defenders must have won four tricks, setting 5-Clubs, two tricks. Spades also must have gone down, by losing a trick in hearts, a ruff, a club and a diamond.

The chief betting was done on whether West could make game against any defense open to North and South. North bet all-comers that 5-Diamonds could not be defeated. It is obvious that both black Aces may be taken, no matter what West attempts. After defenders had taken both black Aces West would hold one spade and one club from which he must rid his hand, either by having dummy's hearts, upon which he could discard black losers. Betting against West's ability to go game was based upon inability to see how declarer could often enough pass entry from hand to hand to accomplish his purpose.

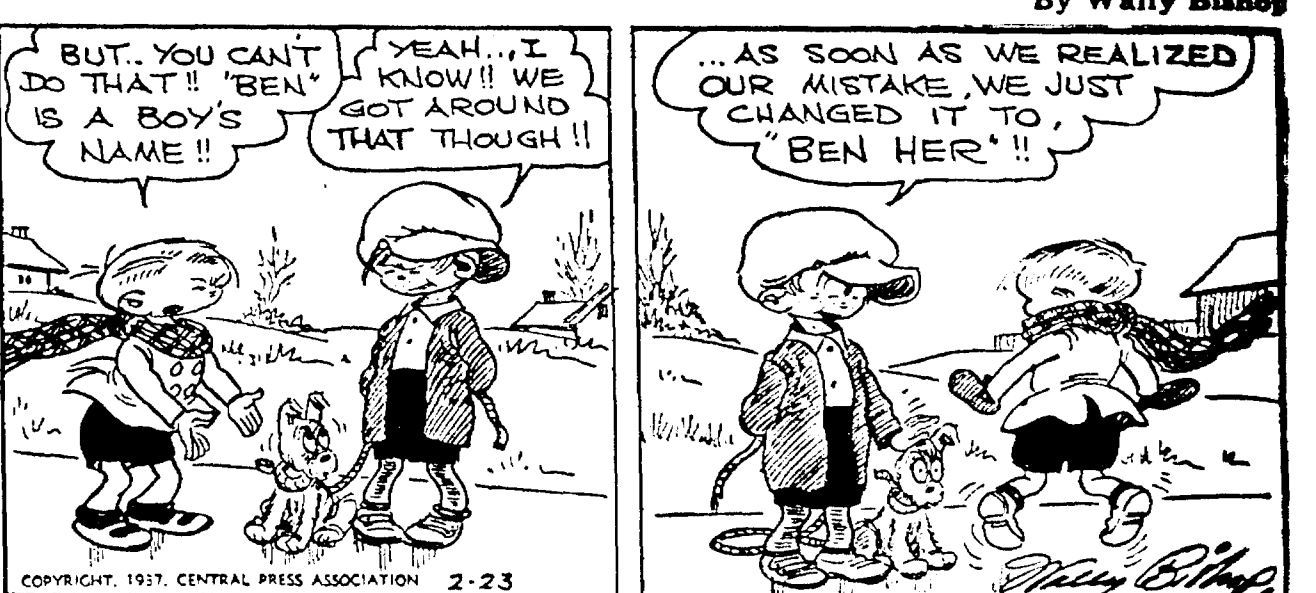

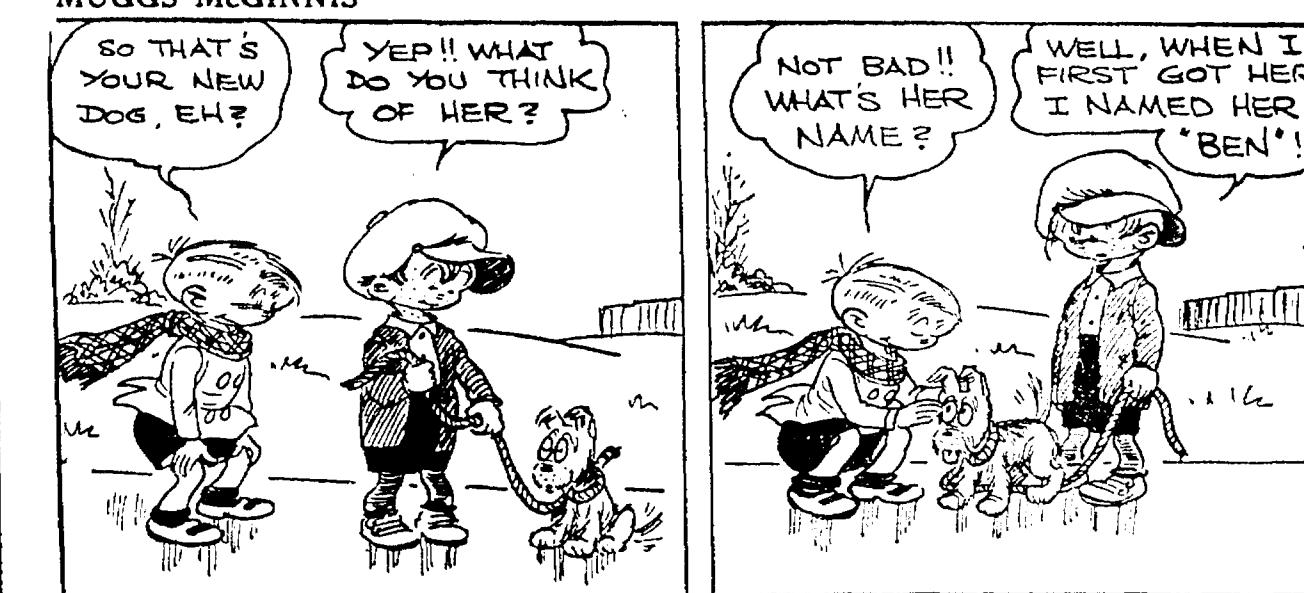

An opening lead of a trump will give West a grand slam, no matter what the defenders do afterwards, as declarer will win 7 tricks with diamonds and 6 tricks with hearts. Before tomorrow see if any other defense can defeat game at diamonds.

COUNTIANS HEAR ARMY ENGINEERS, OFFICIALS DISCUSS FLOOD CONTROL

PICKAWAY PART IN BIG PROGRAM NOT DISCUSSED

Estimated Costs to be Given to Congress in Short Time, Gen. Tyler Announces

BULKLEY, SECREST THERE

Another Conference Planned In Columbus March 15

Eight Pickaway countians went to Huntington, W. Va., Monday to hear army engineers discuss flood control plans for the Ohio valley.

Harry J. Briggs, service manager of the Farm Bureau and a member of the advisory committee of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, said the plans explained were of a general nature for the entire valley. Exact plans for counties were not discussed.

Mr. Briggs believes the plan of the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy program would be used in this district. Under this plan Pickaway county had only one reservoir located along Deer creek, north of Williamsport.

Brig. Gen. Max Tyler, assistant chief of the army engineers, said a report on flood control in the Ohio valley and estimated costs would go to congress within 10 days.

Speakers at the meeting, the fourth annual session of the Ohio Valley Conservation and Flood Control Congress, advocated a flood control program financed entirely by the government and one that could be completed in the shortest possible time.

Senator Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland, outlined the Bulkley-Barkley-Secret flood control bill before congress, which calls for a system of headwaters. Rep. Robert T. Secret of Seneca, O., said there was a "general agreement the nation wants flood control and wants it quickly. The only possible way to get it is to make it a 100 per cent federal project," he said.

Those present at the congress in addition to Mr. Briggs were Mr. and Mrs. James I. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Caldwell, Hulse Hays and his son, Hulse, Jr., and J. B. Cromley, Walnut township, a member of the federal committee with Mr. Briggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith went to Washington, D. C. from the Huntington meeting where he will obtain further information on plans for Pickaway county.

Another meeting on flood control plans will be held in Columbus on March 15.

SEGAL ORDERED TO QUIT SAFETY DIRECTOR'S JOB

The letter of discharge read: "Because of a difference of opinions in matter of policy pertaining to the operation of the police department, you are hereby requested to relinquish your office as director of the department of public safety for the city of Chillicothe, effective as of today."

Letter Follows Parley

The letter was made public by Mr. Segal and Mr. Ford as they emerged from the latter's office at City Hall after a conference lasting nearly a half hour.

Mayor Ford, beyond expressing his opinion of Mr. Segal as a business man and citizen, had no statement to make. Mr. Segal likewise commented he had no statement to make, said later the "differences" had been over the numbers game.

"Some time ago I asked Mr. Ford for a letter authorizing me to direct the chief to stop the 'numbers' games," Mr. Segal said.

"I asked him again this morning and he evaded the issue. When I asked him who was running the police department, he said he was. I then said 'I better get out,' he said 'you're fired!'"

Mr. Ford had issued a letter to O. B. Atwell when the latter, as safety director, ordered the removal of slot machines early in Mr. Ford's term of office. Mr. Segal pointed out.

"Received No Co-operation"

"I have received no co-operation," he added, "particularly from the police department, where the chief apparently is working for the mayor, not for me as the safety director."

Mr. Segal promised a detailed statement of his position.

Mr. Segal is the third safety director to serve under Mayor Ford. O. B. Atwell served from Jan. 1, 1936 to June 30th; Ernest Augustus from July 1st to Sept. 30th. Mr. Segal took over Oct. 1st of last year.

Mr. Ford, in his nearly 14 months of office, also has had two service directors. His first, Edgar B. Hess, was discharged last month when the grader question reached white heat.

Speculate on Appointment

No intimation was given at City Hall as to Mr. Segal's successor, though Carl Orr, who served for a short time as safety director during the first term of Mayor Robert Gunning, was at City Hall earlier in the morning.

Asked if it were true that he had somebody to take over the position, Mr. Ford said "no." The safety director Tuesday is to receive bids for purchase of new safety department equipment.

The mayor likewise refused to discuss the "differences of opinion" referred to in the discharge, but blamed newspapers for widening the rift between him and Mr. Segal. Several weeks ago Mr. Ford made pointed references toward Mr. Segal regarding the purchase of a grader and newspapers quoted him. The mayor had said he expected his cabinet to stick with him or resign.

Girl Holds Jail Tryst With Dean

How Lucille Turner managed to remain three hours in the cell of Dayton Dean, confessed Black Legion triggerman, without jail authorities discovering her absence from the women's ward, puzzles Detroit authorities who have launched an investigation. Miss Turner, a 17-year-old runaway from Asheville, N. C., kept a three-hour tryst with Dean in his cell, he even serving her with dinner from food which he had been allowed to keep in his cell during that time. The girl told conflicting stories of how she managed to get into the cell, at first saying she climbed down a grill work from the eighth floor to Dean's cell on the seventh floor and later that she had been taken up in an elevator. Police reported the finding of a wrench and a twisted bolt in the grillwork in Dean's cell, intimating a possible escape plot.
